

THE BRYAN WEEKLY EAGLE

VOLUME XLIII

BRYAN, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JUNE 6, 1929.

The People's Column

The heavy rains and resultant floods of last week have left the roads of Brazos county in comparatively bad shape and have called to the attention of many citizens the need for better highways within the county, as well as for at least an all-weather road east and west and north and south highway.

Brazos county is one of the two most backward in East Texas in the matter of highways and since the floods there has been more than the usual amount of talk in regard to what steps may be taken to obtain good roads for the county.

There is no question of the need and that the more quickly these roads are obtained the better for both the farmers and the business men of the county. It would appear that some plan should be worked out that would attract the support of the thinking, progressive citizens of the county.

ABOUT BRYAN

Miss Wilma Whitmire, who has been a student at C. I. A., Denton, for the past session, is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gibbs. Miss Whitmire, who is enroute to her home in Madisonville stopped over here to enjoy the commencement festivities at A. and M. College.

Jean McAdams, who has made her home in Bryan with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Buchanan, for several years since the death of her mother, Mrs. Blanche Buchanan McAdams, is leaving Sunday for Waco, to make her home with her father, E. E. McAdams in that city.

Mrs. J. P. Buck of Sour Lake will arrive for a week-end visit in Bryan and will be the guest of Mrs. W. S. Howell. Mr. Buck will teach in summer school at the University of Texas, Austin, this summer and Mrs. Buck will spend a part of the time with her Bryan friends.

Owing to the absence of the pastor, there will be no prayer meeting at the Methodist church this evening, was the information given out by Dr. Jno. W. Black, lay leader of the church.

Business Ethics Much Improved By Advertising

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 5.—A message from President Hoover to the International Advertising Association stressing the ethical value of advertising has been made by C. C. Younggreen, president of the association.

The message was occasioned by the twenty-fifth anniversary convention of the association, which is to be held in Berlin Aug. 12 to 15. In a letter to Senator Arthur Capper, who invited him to attend the convention, President Hoover expressed regret that pressure of affairs prevented his acceptance.

"The economic, social and international value of advertising are now so generally understood that I need not enlarge upon them," the president said in his message to the association, "but in conveying to you my cordial best wishes for a successful convention of the International Advertising Association, I should like you to know that I estimate its ethical value as of equal importance.

"The reiterated act of placing one's commercial aims before the public in cold type, day after day compels one to subject his own motives to a criticism as severe as that which he expects from the public security. Also the agencies established by the advertisers themselves for checking up the truth of advertising in general have produced most beneficial results.

"The noteworthy advance in the ethics of business, easily perceptible in the last twenty years, is in no small measure due to the self examination cheerfully exacted of themselves by business men in their practice of the art of advertising."

MORE MONEY NOW NEEDED FOR SCHOOLS

Charter Amendment To Be Submitted This Fall

MAYOR'S STATEMENT

Howell Suggests Cost Rate For Street Signs

Mayor E. J. Jenkins told members of the Bryan Lions Club yesterday that the city required more money for school operation and maintenance and that it would be necessary to submit an amendment to the city charter to the people this fall, in order to increase the tax levy for school purposes.

For the last two years, according to the mayor, the city schools have been able to get along on the revenues provided. Expenses will be much heavier, however, beginning with the new school year, and more money will be imperative, he said.

The opening of the Travis school will require a larger teaching force and increase other operating expenses. The steadily increasing registration is another factor that (Continued on page 6)

BABY'S COUGH WAKES FAMILY; HOUSE A FIRE

WILLIE WILSON CARRIES FAMILY TO SAFETY BY LADDER

Only the coughing of a baby because of a throat irritated by smoke roused Willie Wilson of East 26th street early this morning to discover that his home was ablaze. Jumping from the roof of a porch he placed a ladder to the front upper room of the house and carried his wife and two children to safety. One child is 7 years and the other 11 months.

After rescuing his family Mr. Wilson who is employed in the textile department at A. and M. College, turned in an alarm and the Bryan fire department prevented the total destruction of the house. The loss on the house is estimated at $2,700 and on furnishings at $500. Insurance on the house is said to cover the loss. The walls remain but the roof was damaged and the rear of the house almost completely gutted. The origin of the fire is a mystery as there was no fire in the house, so far as is known since yesterday morning.

MacDonald Plans To Form Cabinet As King Desires

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, June 5.—Ramsey MacDonald, leader of the Labor party, victorious in last week's elections, today accepted King George's invitation to form a cabinet to replace that of Stanley Baldwin, conservative premier, who resigned yesterday.

Bryan Visitors Reach Charlotte

Word has been received from H. O. Boatwright, Mrs. M. G. Nall and Miss Mary Jane Nall to the effect that they reached Charlotte, N. C., safely and without material delay on account of the floods, although they were routed via New Orleans, La.

After attending the annual reunion of Confederate Veterans and daughters of the Confederacy at Charlotte, Mrs. Nall and Mary Jane will visit relatives and friends at Greenville. Mr. Boatwright also expects to spend some time visiting his old home and old acquaintances in various sections of the state.

INDIAN TRAIL HAVE SHOW OF 160 MILES

EIGHT TOWNS WILL STAGE PAGEANTS CONNECTED BY CARAVAN

(By Associated Press)
WACO, June 5.—A show 160 miles long, stretching from Waco to Cisco with 8 towns staging pageants simultaneously and a Waco caravan of automobiles linking them is in prospect for the first week of July as the result of an organization perfected yesterday by towns along highway No. 67 which has been named the "Indian Trail."

Navasota River Still Over Road; Receding Slowly

All roads leading out of Bryan to other sections of the state are open except the direct route to Navasota and Houston and that to Madisonville.

In both these instances high waters of the Navasota block traffic. According to District Engineer J. E. Blair, the Navasota is receding slowly and there is little probability of the two routes being cleared before the last of the week. Whether or not the roads have been damaged cannot be determined until they are cleared.

Groveton Rally To Be Attended By Eberstadt

"Rally Day" will be staged by the Groveton Chamber of Commerce June 14, and Secretary S. E. Eberstadt has been asked to aid in the program, according to a letter received from President Hayne Nelms of the East Texas organization.

The meeting is called for the purpose of putting more "pep" in the Groveton organization and Secretary Eberstadt has been advised by President J. Webb Howell of the Bryan organization to make the trip, all expenses of which will be paid by the Etx organization.

TOWNS OF TEXAS MARKED TO BE SEEN FROM SKY

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, June 5.—Governor Dan Moody has lent his support to a movement by the Daniel Gugenheim foundation to identify Texas towns by marking roofs to direct cross-country fliers.

Only 2,000 towns of 7,500 of intermediate size have aided to participate in the roof-marking movement, the governor was informed. The remainder either have finished their work or are engaged in erecting marking which may be seen from the sky.

AMARILLO, June 5.—With conflicting testimony of a scuffle that preceded the fatal shooting of Mrs. Grace Morrison already recorded, the court room was filled with gossip-hungry listeners today. Mrs. Levi A. Stallworth is charged with shooting to death Mrs. Morrison because of what she termed friendly relations between her and her husband.

Mrs. Ethel Roper, first witness, and operator of a rooming house, said Mrs. Stallworth and her mother-in-law called at her house on the night of the shooting. She said that although Mrs. Morrison had roomed there several days while her husband remained in Plainview, she was not there at that time. As the Stallworth women were about to leave Mrs. Morrison came up.

Plans Are Drawn For New Home of Woman's Club

The committee appointed by the Bryan Woman's Club and known as the building committee, with a new club house on the recently purchased club property at Washington avenue and East 27th street as a goal, has been busy during the past few weeks since the closing of the club year. They have worked quietly, but have made good progress. Plans for the new club house have been prepared by J. T. Freeland, who is in Bryan at this time directing the building of Bryan city schools. These plans are beautiful and adequate and the committee and the entire membership of the club is delighted with them. As soon as the blue prints arrive the Woman's Club building committee will have another meeting and formally accept the proposed plans and then work on the building will be begun immediately. The committee believe this meeting will be held not later than June 15th.

Director Howell To Attend Meet Of Etx Board

J. Webb Howell, president of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce, and recently elected a director of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, will attend the first meeting of the new board at Jacksonville June 10. At this meeting, called by President E. Nelms, vice presidents will be elected, committee assignments made and the work of the organization for the year outlined.

SONORA, Cal., June 5.—Mrs. Eva Rablen of Texas "Mailorder bride," is under sentence of life imprisonment following her guilty plea to the murder of her deaf husband, Col. Raben.

She said she poisoned his coffee as part of a suicide pact. She was unable to carry out her part because of music at a dance hall nearby.

Work Leaves Job As Chairman of GOP Committee

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 5.—Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, has submitted a letter to President Hoover and to members of the committee announcing his intention of resigning his post, effective in the early fall.

Receipt of the letter by President Hoover was announced late Tuesday at the White House. It was also announced that the chief executive was preparing a letter to Dr. Work expressing appreciation for his services, and regret that he had found it necessary to withdraw.

Dr. Work, who became chairman of the national committee shortly after the Kansas City convention of last June, informed members of the committee in his letter that they would be called together early in the fall to select his successor.

ROBERT LEE PASTOR IS ALL ROUND MAN

(By Associated Press)
ROBERT LEE, June 5.—The Rev. James E. Corder, pastor of the First Baptist church here, is an "all round man."

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION BILL REVISED

Superintendent Now Elective; Not Appointive

SOLONS HEAR MOODY

Urges Legislation On Certain Lines Now Imperative

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, June 5.—Meeting for the first time today, the house committee on education reported favorably the measure passed during last session creating a nine-member state board of education and abolishing the state text book commission.

The bill was resubmitted by Governor Moody because of an error in its caption. The bill provides the superintendent of public instruction and secretary of the board be chosen at the polls and not appointed.

Moody Addresses Solons
Taking the bull by the horns, Gov. Dan Moody Tuesday afternoon advocated rigid regulation of public utilities, a state income tax and a 4-cent gasoline tax, in an address before a joint session of house and senate.

He talked for nearly two hours, in response to a concurrent resolution. (Continued on page 6)

"Try to Get In" Says Sharpe of New Bank Vault

"We're building them thicker and stronger since ladies took up bank robbing as a pastime," said C. Walter Sharpe, contractor in charge of construction on the vault at the new First State Bank building.

The money vault in the new bank building will be 8 feet 10 inches by 19 feet inside dimensions. Walls, floor and ceiling will be of concrete 18 inches thick and reinforced by four layers of 7-8 inch steel bars laced to leave openings only 5-8 inches square. Inside the steel and concrete wall will be a lining of 3-4 inch steel plate.

The door will be of modern burglar proof construction with the newest of burglar alarms and other precautionary devices. The book vault will be separate from the money vault and while smaller will be so constructed as to give absolute protection against burglars and fire.

Mr. Sharpe, who has had more than 20 years' experience in vault construction, says that this is the strongest and most secure of any bank vault it has been his duty to supervise. His advice to those who want money is that it will be much easier to arrange to borrow in the regular and legitimate manner than to take it from this vault.

Delay for Cupid Caused by New Marriage Law

No marriage licenses will be issued by County Clerk Jess B. McGee between June 12 and 15, according to an announcement made by him this morning. The new marriage license law, which prescribes a three day notice of intention to marry and a health examination of the prospective groom, becomes effective on June 12 and applications for licenses under the new law must be filed after that date and three days must elapse before the license will be granted.

Mr. McGee said he was looking for a rush before the 12th as ordinarily there are many June weddings and he figured that many prospective bride couples would arrange to get a license before the new law became operative rather than follow the red tape of the new system.

Yesterday a license was issued to L. T. Lester and Ida Mae Smith.

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, June 5.—Al Rowden, convicted in Stephens county and given 99 years in the penitentiary for the murder of his wife Pauline Rowden, was granted a new trial by this court of criminal appeals today.

In reversing and remanding the conviction the court held the trial court should have granted a new trial on Rowden's claim that he had discovered new evidence.

Theatrical Man And Sportsman Dead in Gotham

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 5.—Harry H. Frazee, theatrical magnate and former owner of the Boston Red Sox, died late today at his Park avenue home.

Mayor James J. Walker, long a personal friend of Mr. Frazee, was at his bedside at the time of his death. Mr. Frazee was 48 years old.

Born in Peoria, Ill., he went on the road as a theatrical agent at the age of 16 and in 1902 launched his first road production, "Uncle Josh Perkins." From 1904 to 1907 he produced a number of musical comedies. He financed and built the Cort Theatre in Chicago in 1907 and the Langacre Theatre in New York in 1913. Among shows which he produced were "Madame Sherry," "Ready Money," "Fine Feathers," "A Pair of Sixes," "Nothing But the Truth," "No, No, Nanette," and "Yes, Yes, Yvette."

He was president and principal owner of the Boston Red Sox from 1916 to 1923.

(By Associated Press)
CORPUS CHRISTI, June 5.—After an all-night search the body of Andrew Crawford Matthews, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sim Mathews of Port Aransas, was found under a pier here today. The child was last seen late yesterday while at play on the pier.

Cream Production Increases as Routes Are Opened; Louisiana Has Lesson for Texas Farmers

BY NELL BENTLEY
We have been asked the question, "Will it pay to operate a milk route out of Bryan for the volume of cream that is available at this time?" Our answer is this, "Probably not for the cream that is now being sold along that route; but as soon as the route is established and in operation daily, more farmers will begin to sell cream and the volume will soon reach a point where it will pay."

Gilmer in Upshur county has just opened a concentration plant to receive whole milk and cream for the Texas Milk Products Company of Marshall. The first day's receipts on May 10 totalled 500 pounds and the amount has increased in this short time to more than 3500 pounds daily. Eight routes

She said she poisoned his coffee as part of a suicide pact. She was unable to carry out her part because of music at a dance hall nearby.

Work Leaves Job As Chairman of GOP Committee

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, has submitted a letter to President Hoover and to members of the committee announcing his intention of resigning his post, effective in the early fall.

Receipt of the letter by President Hoover was announced late Tuesday at the White House. It was also announced that the chief executive was preparing a letter to Dr. Work expressing appreciation for his services, and regret that he had found it necessary to withdraw.

Dr. Work, who became chairman of the national committee shortly after the Kansas City convention of last June, informed members of the committee in his letter that they would be called together early in the fall to select his successor.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION BILL REVISED

Superintendent Now Elective, Not Appointive

SOLONS HEAR MOODY

Urges Legislation On Certain Lines Now Imperative

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 5.—Meeting for the first time today, the house committee on education reported favorably the measure passed during last session creating a nine-member state board of education and abolishing the state text book commission.

The bill was resubmitted by Governor Moody because of an error in its caption. The bill provides the superintendent of public instruction and secretary of the board be chosen at the polls and not appointed.

Moody Addresses Solons

Taking the bull by the horns, Gov. Dan Moody Tuesday afternoon advocated rigid regulation of public utilities, a state income tax and a 4-cent gasoline tax, in an address before a joint session of house and senate.

He talked for nearly two hours, in response to a concurrent resolution.

"Try to Get In" Says Sharpe of New Bank Vault

"We're building them thicker and stronger since ladies took up bank robbing as a pastime," said C. Walter Sharpe, contractor in charge of construction on the vault at the new First State Bank building.

The money vault in the new bank building will be 8 feet 10 inches by 19 feet inside dimensions. Walls, floor and ceiling will be of concrete 18 inches thick and reinforced by four layers of 7-8 inch steel bars laced to leave openings only 5-8 inches square. Inside the steel and concrete wall will be a lining of 3-4 inch steel plate.

The door will be of modern burglar proof construction with the newest of burglar alarms and other precautionary devices.

The book vault will be separate from the money vault and while smaller will be so constructed as to give absolute protection against burglars and fire.

Mr. Sharpe, who has had more than 20 years' experience in vault construction, says that this is the strongest and most secure of any bank vault it has been his duty to supervise. His advice to those who want money is that it will be much easier to arrange to borrow it in the regular and legitimate manner than to take it from this vault.

Delay for Cupid Caused by New Marriage Law

No marriage licenses will be issued by County Clerk Jess B. McGee between June 12 and 15, according to an announcement made by him this morning. The new marriage license law, which prescribes a three day notice of intention to marry and a health examination of the prospective groom, becomes effective on June 12 and applications for licenses under the new law must be filed after that date and three days must elapse before the license will be granted.

Mr. McGee said he was looking for a rush before the 12th as ordinarily there are many June weddings and he figured that many prospective bride couples would arrange to get a license before the new law became operative rather than follow the red tape of the new system.

Yesterday a license was issued to L. T. Lester and Ida Mae Smith.

Cream Production Increases as Routes Are Opened; Louisiana Has Lesson for Texas Farmers

BY NELL BENTLEY

We have been asked the question, "Will it pay to operate a milk route out of Bryan for the volume of cream that is available at this time?" Our answer is this, "Probably not for the cream that is now being sold along that route; but as soon as the route is established and in operation daily, more farmers will begin to sell cream and the volume will soon reach a point where it will pay."

"Let it be the high privilege of this great and free people to establish a republic where rural pride is equal to civic pride, where men of the most refined taste and culture select the rural villa, and where the wealth that comes from the soil finds its greatest return in developing and perfecting that great domain of nature which God has given to us as an everlasting estate." — Dr. Seaman A. Knapp.

FLOOD CONTROL NEEDED

Major rivers of Texas are bank full and overflowing at places; numerous smaller streams are raging torrents, some of them spreading over wide areas of fertile lands. More than 1,000,000 acres of land in the state are now inundated, scattering reports indicate. More land in South Texas may be under water shortly as the crests of the floods pass southward to the lower country. To say that the state has a superabundance of moisture at this time would be putting it mildly. Next year the very territory now under water may be suffering from drought. Crops that are being ruined by floods now may be burning up for lack of moisture later. If there were facilities for controlling the flood waters of Texas streams and using them for irrigation purposes when needed, the prosperity of the state would be more uniform over a period of years. The project of controlling Texas flood waters has been considered before. Several years ago, the legislature made provision for a survey of the main rivers, with flood control as the end in view. Little has been heard of the matter lately. These new floods serve to remind us of the need for revitalizing that project and going forward with it. Flood disasters in other parts of the country also urge action in this state. — Houston Post-Dispatch.

There was a lesson not only for the 1929 class of the Stephen F. Austin high school but for all his bearers in what Governor Dan Moody had to say last night, and in what he has exemplified in his comparatively short life, about preparing for life and opportunity. There was more than a modicum of truth in his statement that well trained minds not only are better able to take advantage of opportunity but that no opportunities present themselves in greater number and more advantageously to the prepared man or woman than to those whose preparation has been indifferent or inadequate. Most of us, like the average high school graduate at the time of commencement, feel at some stage of life that we have done all we may to train ourselves for whatever opportunity or duty may present itself. But the truth is that we never should feel that our schooling is complete but should strive further to perfect ourselves in those things that will make our relationships with our fellows more beneficial to the world at large as well as to ourselves. Only in this manner may we best serve the Great Scheme which placed us here and achieve that sort of success that will be permanent and that disaster of a material sort may not destroy or take from.

The terrible toll of even a short revolt such as that just ended in Mexico is shown by figures published by the Mexican war department. The total of killed was 4000 and of wounded 11,000. Of the wounded a considerable proportion will be crippled or seriously handicapped for life.

The general army expenses and loss to the country including trade, are estimated at $50,000,000. Railway destruction brings an added $10,000,000 loss.

Mexico needs money for development. The $60,000,000 lost for good would have gone far in building roads, schools, public buildings and in many other ways to the advantage of the people of Mexico.

War is destruction and the money is lost as completely as if it had been dropped in the Gulf of Mexico.

And all this loss and destruction was to no purpose.

Raskob may not be the ideal presidential campaign manager in the eyes of many but as a campaign debt shaver he's apparently in a class by himself. If he's left to his own devices he may yet show a surplus in the Democratic party treasury and then we can have another campaign.

It's not too early, following the deluge of rain, to investigate the premises and clear out all possible breeding places for mosquitoes. More peace of body as well as of mind will follow.

There may be thorns along the path to pierce, even to the blood; the darkness may descend upon you and depress and sadden, but, my young friends, He has set before you a way of escape.

FLOOD CONTROL

The 11th Texas legislature was convened in second special session yesterday. In the regular and the first special sessions there was a minimum accomplishment in the way of constructive legislation along lines desired by the people and imperative to the welfare of the state. For this reason it is felt that the present special session will be a busy one.

But already the notion has been planted in the minds of some legislators that the thing to do is to pass the money bills and then adjourn. In fact there was some talk of introducing a sine die adjournment resolution on the opening day of the session, setting the date of adjournment two weeks away on the theory that just as much would be accomplished as if the legislature were in session four weeks.

Ordinarily it is taken for granted that the present session should pass the so-called money bills, at least, and then get busy on other matters. But there are other matters of primary importance on which the legislature should get busy and some of these are of more immediate importance than appropriations, which may be handled later.

The question of good roads is of paramount importance. The people want roads, in the final analysis, even more than they want a reduction in automobile license fees and badly enough to be willing to pay an increased gasoline tax.

The question of prison reform is one that will not down and the more known of the faults of the present system the more important reform becomes. The bill passed at the last special session is clumsy at the best, and there is much reason to believe it will not be signed. Further action along this line more likely will be necessary and if the need develops the legislature should not be hesitant. There are other matters of importance, including utility legislation, which should be taken up and properly disposed of by the extra session.

But in addition to these another matter, perhaps more important than any of the others, is now to the fore and it should be dealt with now and not postponed from time to time as has been the case in the past. We refer now to flood prevention and control and reclamation legislation.

The recent experience of Texas, when lands that ordinarily are safe were overflowed, in which losses running far into the millions were recorded, is one the legislature cannot afford to overlook and some action should be taken to put in motion the necessary machinery to ultimately, and in the shortest possible time, make forever impossible such floods as just have been experienced.

The extra session is faced by many important matters, not none of greater importance than this and action to the end that floods may be prevented will go far toward re-establishing the present legislature in the minds of the people of the state as one that is alive to the needs of Texas.

Prospect

Rev. Daleo Pool and family of Magnolia, have come to make their home in our community again. They are at present on the Merino farm and will do day labor till conditions are better. Floods and droughts sometimes make changes necessary.

During the big rain the Emory reservoir broke. This was a great loss. The barefoot girls waded in and salvaged the fish and the boys stood on the banks with tears rolling down their cheeks for the loss of the "old swimmer" hole.

There is nothing more important than making conditions better for carrying on the work of educating our children. The community feels that they made no mistake in electing these men trustees.

Unintentional Suicide
Many people are slowly poisoning themselves just as surely as if they drank iodine every morning for breakfast. They are daily absorbing the toxins, or poisons, created by accumulated waste matter in their constipated digestive systems. Sooner or later disease will conquer their weakened bodies.

If you have dizzy spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, insomnia, no appetite, bilious attacks or pains in the back and limbs, you are probably suffering from self poisoning caused by constipation. The surest and pleasantest relief for this condition is Herbine, the vegetable cathartic which acts in the natural way. Get a bottle today from ROMAN & VICK.

CREAM PRODUCTION—

The New Orleans Stock Yards received during 1928 a total of 31,187 adult cattle and 36,422 head of calves. 18,841 of the cattle and 17,642 of the calves came from tick infested areas. The loss in market values on these cattle and cows due to tick infestation was $306,388, and this represents only the loss from cattle marketed in New Orleans, taking no account of those shipped from other points in the state. Added to the market loss, according to Mr. Jones, is the expense of shipping ticky cattle to central dipping points, which expense must ultimately be charged against the cattle raiser.

Dairymen Big Sufferers
It is the opinion of Mr. Jones that dairymen suffer an even greater loss from tick infestation than that sustained by beef cattle raisers, and it is his belief that the dairymen of Louisiana lose millions of dollars annually from curtailed milk production where dipping is not resorted to, from expense of dipping where that process is used to prevent loss in production and in the physical handling that is always present for the tick infested animal and which prevents young dairy stock from attaining the peak of perfection that is possible of similar blood lines in tick free areas.

Mr. Jones estimates that a fund of $2,000,000, made available over a two or three year period of time, and administered under efficient management, would rid the state of Louisiana of ticks once and for all time. Such a campaign in his opinion would not only check the economic loss in the dairy and beef cattle industries due to tick infestation, but would also put the state of Louisiana in a position to make greater and more profitable development in the field of beef and dairy production.

All Must Co-Operate

The united effort of cattle raisers and dairy farmers and ample legislation is the solution of the tick question in Louisiana in Mr. Jones' estimation, and we are wondering if the same statement would not apply to all Texas that remains under quarantine regulation due to tick infestation. Brazos county being a part of the infested area in Texas brings the problem forcefully home to those who foresee dairy development as the best and safest means of establishing farm prosperity here and there by giving stability to the entire field of trade and commerce in Bryan territory.

Evidently Louisiana has another problem also common to Texas for a summary of cotton acreage and production since 1925 shows that while the total number of bales produced annually has steadily increased, this has been possibly only because of a great increase acreage and the average production per acre has materially decreased. In 1925, the average production per acre was 235 pounds; in 1926, 200 pounds; in 1927, 170 pounds; and in 1928, 166 pounds; and Mr. Jones calls attention to the fact that thousands of Louisiana farmers are not producing cotton in the average yield per acre because there are still sections of the state where a half-bale to the acre is possible. He makes the statement that farmers who are producing but 100 pounds of cotton to the acre do so at a per unit cost greater than the sale value of the cotton when placed on the market.

Same Solution Due
Mr. Jones' solution for this very evident reduction on acre production of cotton in Louisiana is the one that is being promoted in Texas: greater production per acre, produced at a less cost per pound. This means intensive fertilization and cultivation and suggests the combination of livestock raising and dairy farming together with cotton farming.

Brazos county along with other counties in the cotton growing section of Texas will do well to see in the experience of other sections the ultimate fate of Brazos county soil if planted to cotton year after year with no thought of restoring and maintaining fertility by the use of crop rotation, terracing and the application of fertilizer. And any change from the old program of cotton production involves the introduction of livestock to consume the feed and hay crops that fit into a soil building crop plan. Beef cattle, sheep, hogs and dairy cattle as well as poultry raising offer the means by which this transition may be safely and profitably made. It is recognized, however, that dairy farming is the means by which more farmers may most rapidly and most profitably make this change.

Beef Cattle Slower
Hogs, sheep and poultry may be used in combination with dairy farming, and a smaller investment in breeding stock is necessary in such a plan than when launching a beef cattle program. Also in the case of dairy cattle, chickens, sheep and hogs, the cash returns begin sooner and come throughout the year, while beef cattle require a longer time to grow into money and must be marketed at stated seasons and in large shipments to realize the greatest profit from their sale.

The beef cattle raisers of Brazos county are willing to cooperate to the end that the dairy business here may get off to a flying start. They have signified a willingness to cooperate in an eradication campaign, and cut him in the neck and abdomen. Ward, whose life was spared at the time, was in court to testify against Lightfoot.

Bryan Hi Seniors
At Picnic Supper

Miss Bessie Mae Baker entertained a party of Bryan high school senior boys and girls at a picnic party Monday night, in honor of her visitor, Miss Elsie Ferguson of Corpus Christi.

A pretty lake on the farm of Johnny Konecny east of Bryan was the spot chosen for the picnic and a delightful evening was spent. Supper in abundance was served.

Mrs. C. L. Baker Sr. and her daughter, Mrs. Homer Womack, of Harlingen who is visiting her, were chaperones. Guests present were Elsie Ferguson and Lee Smith, Dorothy McDowell and Charlie Cummings, Evelyn Cahill and J. C. Plemmons, Pauline Morgan and Charles Moehmann, Winona McNeely and Curtis Cobb, Bessie Lou Wiley and Vergie Andrews, Mary Jane Dunn and Bill Clemmons, Nell King and Milton Franklin, Bessie Mae Baker and Johnny Konecny.

Medal Is Given
To Frosh Team
By Business Men

Medals were presented yesterday by John M. Caldwell, veteran jeweler and business man of Bryan, to six A. and M. freshmen winners in stock judging contests. Mr. Caldwell made the presentation on behalf of a group of Bryan and College Station business men who inaugurated this award 16 years ago and have made it each year. More unusual is the fact that the group is still intact.

The donors are J. M. Caldwell, James W. James, T. K. Lawrence, Inc., and A. M. Waldrop, all of Bryan, and Casey & Sparks and the Campus Grocery of College. The students to whom the medals were presented were H. F. Rothmann of Mason; Leon C. Kannon of Lamesa; M. G. Perkins of Mt. Pleasant; J. B. McCaughan of Yarnery; H. D. Pool of Dallas, and C. C. Apperson Jr. of Commerce.

Rains Last Week
Over 8½ Inches;
Three Day Fall

More than eight and one-half inches of rain fell in Bryan and College three days of last week, according to measurements made at A. and M. College. The heaviest downpour was Tuesday when 3.93 inches were recorded. Monday the precipitation was 2.62 inches and Wednesday it was 2 inches. Thursday there was a trace.

Temperatures for the week were fairly uniform. The high point was registered Monday when the mercury went to 87 and the low of 65 was in the same 24-hour period. This period also showed the widest variation.

Temperatures were as follows:
Monday 87 65
Tuesday 81 66
Wednesday 79 69
Thursday 78 21
Friday 83 70
Saturday 86 70
Sunday 86 73

Milady's Purse May Be Skimpy
As Her Gown and Still Carry
Fortune in New U. S. Currency

Milady's purse may now assume a size proportionate with the modern frock and yet be ample to accommodate a fair size financial reserve for the new paper money, samples of which have been received by local banks, and which will go into circulation on July 1, measures but two and five-eighths by six and one eighths inches.

Samples of the $10, $5, $2 and $1 bills examined by an Eagle reporter through the courtesy of J. N. Dulaney of the First State Bank and Trust Company, attract attention immediately because different in design and size from the old money now in use.

The $1 bill, most widely known and used of all the currency issued by Uncle Sam will carry the picture of Washington on the face with "One" engraved in a scroll on the reverse side.

The $10 bill bears an engraving of Hamilton on the face and the U. S. Treasury building on the opposite side. On the face of the $5 bill is Lincoln's likeness while the Lincoln Memorial is seen on the reverse side. In a like manner the $2 bill carries the likeness of Jefferson and his home at Monticello.

The general plan in the new money design seems to be to make the bills of every denomination so that raising a figure to a higher denomination might be immediately detected by those who receive and handle money. In other words with the new designs it will be impossible to raise a bill to a higher denomination if the public will become familiar with the distinctive design that belongs to each denomination.

The smaller sized bills will effect quite a saving by virtue of the fact that they will require much less paper in the course of a year's turnover from the U. S. engraving and printing plant. The change from old designs to new will be made gradually, says Mr. Dulaney, who also is responsible for the statement that the average life of a dollar bill is ninety days. Bills of larger denomination last longer.

Conference July 29 at A. & M.

The sixth annual conference of county school superintendents will be held at A. and M. College, July 29 to August 2. An exhaustive program has been prepared and among the speakers will be President T. O. Walton of A. and M., Dean T. H. Shelby of Austin, Prof. George B. Wilcox of A. and M., T. C. Richardson of Farm and Ranch, Dallas, and S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of education.

The complete and final program is as follows:
Monday Afternoon
Organization of County Schools: Merits and Demerits of the District System, Mrs. G. K. Robbins, county superintendent, Cameron. Merits and Demerits of the Union School District, by Supt. Price Scott, Florida. Merits and Demerits of the County Unit, by Supt. Geo. B. Wilcox, Austin. Merits and Demerits of the Consolidated District, by Supt. Buri Bryan, Wichita Falls.

Tuesday Morning
Grouping Rural Schools for High School Purposes, by John T. Conn, state department of education, Austin. Discussion, led by Miss Mary Shipp Sanders, state department of education, Austin. Comparison of the Small and Large Schools as to Educational Efficiency, by Supt. Wallace Gregg, Decatur.

Tuesday Afternoon
Professional Qualifications Necessary for the Successful County Superintendent, by President A. M. Birdwell, Nacogdoches. Methods of Educating the Rural People as to Their School Problems, by Supt. W. E. James, Georgetown. Discussion, led by Supt. R. E. White, Ballinger.

Wednesday Morning
Address by Dr. T. O. Walton, president A. and M. College. Ways and Means of Financing Our Educational Program, by Dean T. H. Shelby, Austin. General Discussion, led by Supt. A. A. Bullock, Snyder. Transportation Problems, by Prof. Geo. B. Wilcox, A. and M. College.

Wednesday Afternoon
Conserving School Funds, by Supt. Howard Walker, Lufkin. The County Superintendent's Visit, by Supt. T. B. Walters, Jasper. Items in a County-Wide Plan for Improvement, by Supt. A. A. Bullock, Snyder.

Damage of $5,000
To City Streets
By Recent Rains

Heavy damage was done Bryan city streets by the rains of last week, according to a checkup just completed. Some 40 items in which repairs of some sort will be made were disclosed by the survey. The damage is estimated at $5,000.

Work on putting the streets, with culverts and small bridges, back in shape, has been started and will be completed as quickly as possible, according to City Manager J. Bryan Miller.

Dr. Mark Francis Will Be Honored
By Miami College June 10 With the Degree of LL.D.; Leaves Here Today

Dr. and Mrs. Mark Francis left College Station today for Shandon, Ohio, where they will attend a homecoming of the Francis family, returning to College Station in about two weeks.

On June 10, Dr. Francis will attend commencement exercises at Miami College at Oxford, Ohio, where the degree of LL. D. will be conferred upon him in recognition of the fact that he is a native son of the state of Ohio who has achieved unusual fame in the national field of science and education.

A similar honor also is being conferred upon Dr. Ed Francis of Washington, D. C., who is a brother of Dr. Mark Francis. Dr. Ed Francis is being recognized for his accomplishment in discovering the cause and treatment for Tularemia, a disease that had its beginning a few years ago in Tulare county, California, where it was found to affect rabbits.

The spread of this disease has been very rapid, until now it is found in practically every section of the United States, and it is known to be transmitted from the carcass of dead or diseased rabbits to human beings, causing a very serious affection of the liver and even proving fatal in many cases.

Dr. Francis contracted the disease himself in conducting his research work with diseased rabbits and also worked out a satisfactory treatment for the disease in human beings.

Thursdays Morning

The Rural School as Related to the Problem of Farm Relief, by Prof. R. M. Woods, Huntsville. The part the School Should play in Community Activities, by T. C. Richardson, field editor of Texas Farm and Ranch, Dallas. General Discussion, led by Supt. E. S. Irwin, Rusk.

Thursday Afternoon

The Work of the Texas State Teachers Association by Pres. R. M. Caldwell, Dallas. What the County Superintendent Should Know About His County, by Supt. D. E. White, Quitman. General Discussion led by Miss Etta Strickland, Nacogdoches.

Friday Morning

Address, by Supt. S. M. N. Marrs, Austin. General Discussion and adjournment.

BRYAN AVENUE PAVING

Before the end of this week it is expected that work will be started in the paving of Bryan avenue between 26th and 28th streets. The contractors are obtaining the signatures of property holders and as quickly as this detail is completed the actual work of paving will be started.

Primary B.Y.P.U.
Holds Picnic at
Sue Haswell Pk.

The quarterly social meeting of the primary department of the B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church, held Saturday afternoon proved a most delightful affair, although the plan for a picnic at Sue Haswell Memorial Park had to be changed to an indoor party in the basement of the church on account of the rainy weather.

Mrs. R. A. Eades, the social chairman had planned many fun making games for the children and Mrs. N. L. McCulloch, Mrs. Jack Allen, Mrs. Wiley Higgs and Mrs. Forest Jones as leaders and sponsors also took part in the success of the party and everybody young and old had a good time.

Birthday honors for the quarter, with a birthday cake and candles, the singing of the birthday songs, and with favors for the honorees were given to Frances Ford, Bill Johns Eades and Joann McCulloch.

Mary Helen Vick was given honorable mention for making 100 per cent during the month of May.

Chicken sandwiches, colored lemonade, ice cream cones and all-day suckers made up the refreshment course.

over a Billion Deadly Germs in a Single Drop of Water
Germs are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seven hundred million of them in a drop of water. And just a few of these tiny germs, if they get into your blood through a cut in your skin, may make you so sick you will be in bed for weeks—may cause the loss of a limb through blood poisoning—may even infect you with that most dreadful and fatal of diseases, lockjaw.

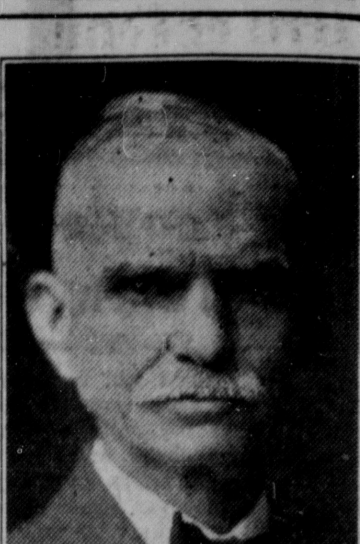

Just because you can see no dirt in a cut does not mean that it is clean. You cannot see germs. The only safe and sane thing to do, is to thoroughly wash every cut, no matter how small, with Liquid Boronox, to kill the germs, and then dust it with Boronox powder, to hasten the healing. Liquid Boronox costs 30 cents, 60 cents, $1.20 and $1.50; Boronox Powder, 25 cents, 50 cents, and can be had at Roman & Vick.

To Free City of Mosquito Pest

Oiling of all pools on streets or other city property has been completed by the city and the job will be repeated in the next few days, according to an announcement at the city hall this morning.

In connection with this work property owners are urged to drain their premises, do away with tin cans and other receptacles that will hold water, as it is impossible to get rid of mosquitoes as long as small pools of water remain in which they may breed.

"Let it be the high privilege of this great and free people to establish a republic where rural pride is equal to civic pride, where men of the most refined taste and culture select the rural villa, and where the wealth that comes from the soil finds its greatest return in developing and perfecting that great domain of nature which God has given to us as an everlasting estate." — Dr. Seaman A. FLOOD CONTROL NEEDED

Major rivers of Texas are bank full and overflowing at places; numerous smaller streams are raging torrents, some of them spreading over wide areas of fertile lands. More than 1,000,000 acres of land in the state are now inundated, scattering reports indicate. More land in South Texas may be under water shortly as the crests of the floods pass southward to the lower country. To say that the state has a superabundance of moisture at this time would be putting it mildly. Next year the very territory now under water may be suffering from drought. Crops that are being ruined by floods now may be burning up for lack of moisture later. If there were facilities for controlling the flood waters of Texas streams and using them for irrigation purposes when needed, the prosperity of the state would be more uniform over a period of years. The project of controlling Texas flood waters has been considered before. Several years ago, the legislature made provision for a survey of the main rivers, with flood control as the end in view. Little has been heard of the matter lately. These new floods serve to remind us of the need for revitalizing that project and going forward with it. Flood disasters in other parts of the country also urge action in this state. — Houston Post-Dispatch.

There was a lesson not only for the 1929 class of the Stephen F. Austin high school but for all his hearers in what Governor Dan Moody had to say last night, and in what he has exemplified in his comparatively short life, about preparing for life and opportunity. There was more than a modicum of truth in his statement that well trained minds not only are better able to take advantage of opportunity but that no opportunities present themselves in greater number and more advantageously to the prepared man or woman than to those whose preparation has been indifferent or inadequate. Most of us, like the average high school graduate at the time of commencement, feel at some stage of life that we have done all we may to train ourselves for whatever opportunity or duty may present itself. But the truth is that we never should feel that our schooling is complete but should strive further to perfect ourselves in those things that will make our relationships with our fellows more beneficial to the world at large as well as to ourselves. Only in this manner may we best serve the Great Scheme which placed us here and achieve that sort of success that will be permanent and that disaster of a material sort may not destroy or take from.

The terrible toll of even a short revolt such as that just ended in Mexico is shown by figures published by the Mexican war department. The total of killed was 4000 and of wounded 11,000. Of the wounded a considerable proportion will be crippled or seriously handicapped for life.

The general army expenses and loss to the country including trade, are estimated at $50,000,000. Railway destruction brings an added $10,000,000 loss.

Mexico needs money for development. The $60,000,000 lost for good would have gone far in building roads, schools, public buildings and in many other ways to the advantage of the people of Mexico. War is destruction and the money is lost as completely as if it had been dropped in the Gulf of Mexico.

And all this loss and destruction was to no purpose.

FLOOD CONTROL

The 41st Texas legislature was convened in second special session yesterday. In the regular and the first special sessions there was a minimum accomplishment in the way of constructive legislation along lines desired by the people and imperative to the welfare of the state. For this reason it is felt that the present special session will be a busy one.

But already the notion has been planted in the minds of some legislators that the thing to do is to pass the money bills and then adjourn. In fact there was some talk of introducing a sine die adjournment resolution on the opening day of the session, setting the date of adjournment two weeks away on the theory that just as much would be accomplished as if the legislature were in session four weeks.

Ordinarily it is taken for granted that the present session should pass the so-called money bills, at least, and then get busy on other matters. But there are other matters of primary importance on which the legislature should get busy and some of these are of more immediate importance than appropriations, which may be handled later.

The question of good roads is of paramount importance. The people want roads, in the final analysis, even more than they want a reduction in automobile license fees and badly enough to be willing to pay an increased gasoline tax.

The question of prison reform is one that will not down and the more known of the faults of the present system the more important reform becomes. The bill passed at the last special session is clumsy at the best, and there is much reason to believe it will not be signed. Further action along this line more than likely will be necessary and if the need develops the legislature should not be hesitant. There are other matters of importance, including utility legislation, which should be taken up and properly disposed of by the extra session.

In addition to these another matter, perhaps more important than any of the others, is now to the fore and it should be dealt with now and not postponed from time to time as has been the case in the past. We refer now to flood prevention and control and reclamation legislation.

The recent experience of Texas, when lands that ordinarily are safe were overflowed, in which losses running far into the millions were recorded, is one the legislature cannot afford to overlook and some action should be taken to put in motion the necessary machinery to ultimately, and in the shortest possible time, make forever impossible such floods as just have been experienced.

The extra session is faced by many important matters, but none of greater importance than this and action to the end that floods may be prevented will go far toward re-establishing the present legislature in the minds of the people of the state as one that is alive to the needs of Texas.

The New Orleans Stock Yards received during 1928 a total of 31,187 adult cattle and 33,422 head of calves. 18,841 of the cattle and 17,642 of the calves came from tick infested areas. The loss in market values on these cattle and cows due to tick infestation was $306,388, and this represents only the loss from cattle marketed in New Orleans, taking no account of those shipped from other points in the state. Added to the market loss, according to Mr. Jones, is the expense of shipping ticky cattle to central dipping points, which expense must ultimately be charged against the cattle raiser.

Dairymen Big Sufferers

It is the opinion of Mr. Jones that dairymen suffer an even greater loss from tick infestation than that sustained by beef cattle raisers, and it is his belief that the dairymen of Louisiana lose millions of dollars annually from curtailed milk production where dipping is not resorted to, from expense of dipping where that process is used to prevent loss in production and in the physical handicap that is always present for the tick infested animal and which prevents young dairy stock from attaining the peak of perfection that is possible of similar blood lines in tick free areas.

Mr. Jones estimates that a fund of $2,000,000, made available over a two or three year period of time, and administered under efficient management, would rid the state of Louisiana of ticks once and for all time. Such a campaign in his opinion would not only check the economic loss in the dairy and beef cattle industries due to tick infestation, but would also put the state of Louisiana in a position to make greater and more profitable development in the field of beef and dairy production.

All Must Co-Operate

The united effort of cattle raisers and dairy farmers and ample legislation is the solution of the tick question in Louisiana in Mr. Jones' estimation, and we are wondering if the same statement would not apply to this state where ticks remain small area in Texas that is still under quarantine regulation due to tick infestation. Brazos county being a part of the infested area in Texas brings the problem forcefully home to those who foresee dairy development as the best and safest means of establishing farm prosperity here and thereby giving stability to the entire field of trade and commerce in Bryan territory.

Evidently Louisiana has another problem also common to Texas for a summary of cotton acreage and production since 1925 shows that while the total number of bales produced annually has steadily increased, this has been possibly only because of a great increase acreage and the average production per acre has materially decreased. In that time, in 1925, the average production per acre was 235 pounds; in 1926, 200 pounds; in 1927, 170 pounds, and in 1928, 166 pounds; and Mr. Jones calls attention to the fact that thousands of Louisiana farmers are not producing cotton in the average yield per acre because there are still sections of the state where a half-bale to the acre is possible. He makes the statement that farmers who are producing but 100 pounds of cotton to the acre do so at a per unit cost greater than the sale value of the cotton when placed on the market.

Same Solution Due

Mr. Jones' solution for this very evident reduction in acre production of cotton in Louisiana is the one that is being promoted in Texas: greater poundage per acre, produced at a less cost per pound. This means intensive fertilization and cultivation and suggests the combination of livestock raising and dairy farming together with cotton farming.

Brazos county along with other counties in the cotton growing section of Texas will do well to see in the experience of other sections the ultimate fate of Brazos county soil if planted to cotton year after year with no thought of restoring and maintaining fertility by the use of crop rotation, terracing and the application of fertilizer. And any change from the old program of cotton production involves the introduction of livestock to consume the feed and hay crops that fit into a soil building crop plan. Beef cattle, sheep, hogs and dairy cattle as well as poultry raising offer the means by which this transition may be safely and profitably made. It is recognized, however, that dairy farming is the means by which more farmers may most rapidly and most profitably make this change.

Beef Cattle Slower

Hogs, sheep and poultry may be used in combination with dairy farming, and a smaller investment in breeding stock is necessary in such a plan than when launching a beef cattle program. Also in the case of dairy cattle, chickens, sheep and hogs, the cash returns begin sooner and come throughout the year, while beef cattle require a longer time to grow into money and must be marketed at stated seasons and in large shipments to realize the greatest profit from their sale.

The beef cattle raisers of Brazos county are willing to cooperate to the end that the dairy business here may get off to a flying start. They have signified a willingness to participate in an eradication campaign and cut him in the neck and abdomen. Ward, whose life was spared at the time, was in court to testify against Lightfoot.

campaign mapped out and begun on a basis that gives a reasonable assurance that Brazos county will be cleared and kept clear of ticks. They do not, however, care to endorse a movement that might result in failure to eradicate and subsequent losses from tick fever such as were sustained by dairymen here some years ago when cattle born on Brazos county ranches lost their natural immunity and died from tick fever contracted from ticks carried down the streams at flood stage and by cattle wandering about unconcerned from tick infested areas.

Work Possible Says Williams In the opinion of Amon Williams, one of the most successful cattle raisers of this section, it would require only 18 months or 2 years to rid Brazos county of ticks provided all cattle owners would give full cooperation in the campaign, but he frankly holds any campaign illadvised and futile which would not effectively wipe out the ticks and give assurance against a reintroduction on territory so cleared. It is Mr. Williams' opinion that the eradication campaign should not begin until all territory west of the Trinity river and extending to the Gulf of Mexico is ready to and has made provision to carry on a consistent and continued campaign until that entire area is released from quarantine.

Tick eradication is but one of the questions vital to dairy development here, and while we watch and wait ready to do our part in such a campaign we should continue every effort toward herd improvement, better buildings and equipment, more home grown feed stuffs and a satisfactory market situation after production is assured.

September 1 is set as a tentative date when a cream route will be put into operation on Mail Route No. 3 out of Bryan, making it possible for farmers along this route to send sweet cream to the creamery at A. and M. College every day.

A preliminary conference was held at County Agent C. L. Benson's office on Saturday afternoon and the conclusion reached that the success of a collection route would be more certain if a few weeks time is allowed in which to complete arrangements and enlist the patronage of farmers along the way who will be in a position to make use of the route by that time.

Perhaps the most significant figures submitted in the conference on Saturday were those given by J. J. Jones, who lives just south of A. and M. College on the Wellborn road. Mr. Jones is now milking 12 Jersey cows and his cream checks from the College creamery for the month of April totaled $234.82. His expense for feed and other operation during the month was about $75, leaving a profit from cream sales for the month of about $160, or $13 per cow. Mr. Jones stated that the cost of feed might have been reduced considerably if he had planned more carefully in the matter of providing home grown feed and hay.

Others attending the conference on Saturday were J. H. Holligan, J. M. Atkins, J. L. Hicks, Mrs. J. F. Holick, Mrs. E. A. Holick, and Frank Dobrovolsky, all of whom are now marketing cream at the College creamery.

Bryan Hi Seniors At Picnic Supper

Miss Bessie Mae Baker entertained a party of Bryan high school senior boys and girls at a picnic party Monday night, in honor of her visitor, Miss Elsie Ferguson of Corpus Christi.

A pretty lake on the farm of Johnny Konecny east of Bryan was the spot chosen for the picnic and a delightful evening was spent. Supper in abundance was served. Mrs. C. L. Medal Is Given To Frosh Team By Business Men

Medals were presented yesterday by John M. Caldwell, veteran jeweler and business man of Bryan, to six A. and M. freshmen winners in stock judging contests. Mr. Caldwell made the presentation on behalf of a group of Bryan and College Station business men who inaugurated this award 16 years ago and have made it each year. More unusual is the fact that the group is still intact.

The donors are J. M. Caldwell, James W. James, T. K. Lawrence, Inc., and A. M. Waldrop, all of Bryan, and Casey & Sparks and the Campus Grocery of College.

The students to whom the medals were presented were H. F. Kothmann of Mason; Leon C. Ransom of Lamesa; M. G. Perkins of Mt. Pleasant; J. B. McCaughan of Yarnes; H. D. Pool of Dallas, and C. C. Apperson Jr. of Commerce.

Milady's Purse May Be Skimpy As Her Gown and Still Carry Fortune in New U. S. Currency

Milady's purse may now assume a size proportionate with the modern frock and yet be ample to accommodate a fair size financial reserve for the new paper money, samples of which have been received by local banks, and which will go into circulation on July 1, measures but two and five-eighths by six and one eighths inches.

Samples of the $10, $5, $2 and $1 bills examined by an Eagle reporter through the courtesy of J. N. Dulaney of the First State Bank and Trust Company, attract attention immediately because different in design and size from the old money now in use.

The $1 bill, most widely known and used of all the currency issued by Uncle Sam will carry the picture of Washington on the face with "One" engraved in a scroll on the reverse side.

The $10 bill bears an engraving of Hamilton on the face and the U. S. Treasury building on the opposite side. On the face of the $5 bill is Lincoln's likeness while the Lincoln Memorial is seen on the reverse side. In a like manner the $2 bill carries the likeness of Jefferson and his home at Monticello.

The general plan in the new money design seems to be to make the bills of every denomination so that raising a figure to a higher denomination might be immediately detected by those who receive and handle money. In other words with the new designs it will be impossible to raise a bill to a higher denomination if the public will become familiar with the distinctive design that belongs to each denomination.

The smaller sized bills will effect quite a saving by virtue of the fact that they will require much less paper in the course of a year's turn-out from the U. S. engraving and printing plant. The change from old designs to new will be made gradually, says Mr. Dulaney, who also is responsible for the statement that the average life of a dollar bill is ninety days. Bills of larger denomination last longer.

Pools Are Oiled To Free City of Mosquito Pest

Oiling of all pools on streets or other city property has been completed by the city and the job will be repeated in the next few days, according to an announcement at the city hall this morning.

In connection with this work property owners are urged to drain their premises, do away with tin cans and other receptacles that will hold water, as it is impossible to get rid of mosquitoes as long as small pools of water remain in which they may breed.

Primary B.Y.P.U. Holds Picnic at Sue Haswell Pk.

The quarterly social meeting of the primary department of the B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church, held Saturday afternoon proved a most delightful affair, although the plan for a picnic at Sue Haswell Memorial Park had to be changed to an indoor party in the basement of the church on account of the rainy weather.

Mrs. R. A. Eades, the social chairman had planned many fun making games for the children and Mrs. N. L. McCullogh, Mrs. Jack Allen, Mrs. Wiley Higgs and Mrs. Forest Jones as leaders and sponsors also took part in the success of the party and everybody young and old had a good time.

Birthday honors for the quarter, with a birthday cake and candles, the singing of the birthday songs, and with favors for the honorees were given to Frances Ford, Bill Johns Eades and Joann McCullogh.

Mary Helen Vick was given honorable mention for making 100 percent during the month of May. Chicken sandwiches, colored lemonade, ice cream cones and all-day suckers made up the refreshment course.

ALLEN CLOSES 44TH SEASON, 40 IN CLASS

Exercises Held Last Night In Palace Theatre

HONORS ARE AWARDED

Certificates for Work In R. O. T. C. Camp Are Given

Allen Academy, oldest preparatory school for boys in Texas, closed its 44th and one of its most successful years last night, when diplomas were awarded a class of 40 graduates, who had completed four years of work at the institution.

The exercises, held in the Palace theater, were attended by a responsive audience of friends of the class and the institution, though many friends of the graduates were prevented from attending by weather and road conditions.

N. B. Allen, superintendent and son of one of the founders of the school, presided and presented the diplomas and all but one of the honor awards. Col. C. J. Nelson, commandant of the cadet corps at A. & M. College, presented the cadets who had won the honor with commissions in the reserve corps. The Allen Band, under the direction of E. R. Lightfoot, furnished music for the occasion and James Leaden, Jr., of Mart, soloist.

Bryan Boys in Class
The commencement address was delivered by P. W. Horn, president of Texas Technological College of Lubbock, who impressed on the class the opportunities and duties that awaited them in their coming contacts in higher institutions of learning or in the world of business and industry.

Among the graduates were four from without the state, one coming from Mexico, and five from Bryan. These were Malcolm Barron, James H. George, Clifton R. Gardner, Cecil T. Martin and William C. Merka.

The music for the commencement exercises was furnished by the Academy band, one of the outstanding musical organizations of its kind in Texas.

Honors Are Announced
The honor graduate this year is Daniel W. Kittredge of New York City. The senior scholarship medal, given by Wilson Bradley, was awarded William Lee Campbell of Dallas. This youth also was awarded the prize for the winning essay among those submitted by Texas students in the recent contest sponsored by the American Chemical Society.

The presentation was made by J. S. Hemingway, his instructor in chemistry. The Astin medal, given by Mrs. O. H. Astin for excellence in English, was awarded David R. Winterman of Eagle Lake. The junior scholarship medal, given by J. M. Caldwell, was awarded Harvey Doty of Matehula, Mexico. The medal for the best athlete was given to Bud McLeod of Houston. The Mathematics medal was awarded to George Barron of Mexico City. P. W. Wheelis Jr., of Mart, won the Distinguished Service medal. The Student Athletic medal was awarded Allen Cunningham of Paris for being the best student among the members of the Academy's various athletic teams.

Military Honors Won

The cadets who completed this year's course in R. O. T. C. training and who were given certificates by Col. Nelson to show their qualifications in the grade attained in the Reserve forces, were announced by Captain A. D. Bruce, commandant of the corps, to be as follows:

Master Sergeant—James B. Malhard, Houston.

First Sergeants—Joseph H. George, Bryan; Clifton R. Gardner, Bryan; William E. Ladin, Houston; John H. Sweeney, Houston; Davis R. Winterman, Eagle Lake.

Sergeants—Lawrence Ashburn, Denison; Jack W. Harris, Houston; Sam W. Jenkin, Corpus Christi; Richard K. Jennings, Roanoke, La.; Daniel W. Kittredge, Washington, D. C.; Walter T. Millington, Presidio; Joe W. Rowland, Weslaco; Choyce A. Rutledge, Victoria; William H. Staples, Paris; Robert E. Stripling, San Augustine; Carl L. White, Arkansas City, Ark.; Joseph Kost, Houston.

Corporals—Norman L. Armitage, Dallas; Malcolm Barron, Bryan; John W. Craig, Many, La.; Henry H. English, Henderson; Don H. Ford, Orange; William V. Hill, El Campo; Frank A. Bryan Teachers Leave for Home Or Special Work

Many of the members of the Bryan city school teaching force are leaving tomorrow for the summer months. Some are going away to live in other cities; some will attend school during the vacation days, while others will spend the rest of the time until school opens again next September with their home folk.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Parker, who have been in Bryan during this school year are leaving Saturday for Houston to reside permanently. Mr. Parker has accepted a position as draftsman for the Humble Oil Company and will be in the office at Houston.

Miss Lois Gilstrap, domestic science teacher for the past three years, will spend the summer with her parents at Franklin.

Misses Safronia and Claribel Carrington go to Caldwell Saturday for a visit of several days with their parents and will then go to Boulder, Colorado, where they will do special study work during the summer.

Miss Annette Moran will spend the summer with her home folk at Mason, Texas, and Miss Gladys McKee will be with her relatives at Henderson during vacation days.

Miss Ann Barrett leaves tomorrow for her home in Waco, and Miss Winnie Liae Carter for her home in Brownwood, Texas. Miss Esther Price returned to her home in Uvalde for the summer.

Curb Gas Pumps May Be Barred By Commission

The question of curb gasoline pumps was threshed out by the city commission of Bryan yesterday in a conference with the Bryan representatives of four companies, Gulf, Texas Magnolia and Humble.

The conclusion was reached that a date should be definitely set after which no more curb installations should be made except under certain conditions that obtain in the case of other individuals and companies seeking franchises for the use of part of the city streets.

A committee was named to report back to the commission and it is expected that a definite policy will be worked out shortly that will practically stop the practice of curb installation, which has been growing rapidly lately as the result of keener competition in the oil and gas field.

Ewing-Walton Engagement Is Told at Party

Mrs. Eugene Ewing entertained Thursday morning at her home on East Washington Avenue with a beautifully appointed bridge luncheon, honoring her daughter who is home for a few days from Georgetown.

After five games were played a bit of social news was made known when the guests were invited into the dining room, which was beautifully decorated in pink and green. A two course luncheon was served the sweet course consisting of cake in the form of wedding rings filled with mint ice in which was concealed tiny cupid telling of the engagement of Miss Gladys Ewing and Mr. Turner Walton, the wedding to take place in July.

Amid clamors of good wishes and congratulations Mr. Turner was presented to the guests, while from some guilty source rice was thrown on the unsuspecting couple causing a great deal of laughter and confusion.

Miss Gladys Ewing is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ewing and is one of the most beautiful and charming of the town's young people. She receives her A. B. degree in June from Southwestern University where she has been a student for the past three years.

Mr. Walton is the son of Dr. T. O. and Mrs. Walton of A. and M. College and is now attending the Texas University Medical College at Navasota.

FAIRES WILL LEAVE FOR SUMMER IN WESTERN STATE

Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Faires will leave Bryan for the summer one day next week. Mrs. Faires expects to spend the summer with her parents in Boulder, Colo., and Mr. Faires will be located at Wichita, Kans., where he expects to do some special work in airplane building and aeronautics in preparation for work that he expects to do at A. and M. College next year.

40th Convention Of Texas C.E.U. To Open June 12

The fortieth annual convention of the Texas Christian Endeavor Union will meet in Houston June 12 to 17. The First Presbyterian church will act as host to the 5000 delegates expected from all over the state.

Miss Florence Sterling is chairman of the convention committee. Preparations are being made to entertain the largest Christian Endeavor convention ever assembled in the state of Texas. The Chambers of Commerce of Houston and Galveston have arranged trips and entertainment for all registered delegates. The state council will be entertained at the Lamar Hotel just one block from the First Presbyterian church.

Noted speakers have been secured by the convention committee to address the Endeavorers of Texas. Heading the list of speakers is Dr. Daniel A. Poling, World President of Christian Endeavor, Editor of the Christian Herald and pastor of the Marble Collegiate church of New York. Dr. Poling is one of the outstanding preachers before the Christian world today. He will address great mass meetings while in Houston.

Mr. Jack Huppertz, known and loved by thousands throughout Texas, will bring with him from Dallas, Mr. Alva and Mrs. Wilgus, who will take charge of the music. Carlton M. Sherwood of Boston will be another noted speaker to address the delegates, accompanied by A. J. Shartle, who is International Treasurer of Christian Endeavor.

The convention opens Wednesday evening, June 12, then for four days the delegates will be busy with mass meetings, parades, banquets, excursions, conferences, and scores of other activities. Special railroad rates will be in effect from almost all points in the state. Delegates will receive free entertainment of room and breakfast.

The youth of the Lone Star State will assemble from near and far, many bringing bands, and special floats, all looking forward to a time of real fellowship and inspiration.

Work Is Planned For Coming Year By Etex C. of C.

S. E. Eberstadt, secretary of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce, went to Longview yesterday to attend a meeting of secretaries of commercial organizations affiliated with the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was called by General Manager W. N. Blanton and the purpose, it is said, is to discuss plans for the coming year. The annual membership drive to be launched this month is one of the matters to come up.

Negro Is Killed On A-M Building

(Special to The Eagle)
COLLEGE STATION, June 1.—Elijah Richardson, 30, negro workman employed on the chemistry laboratory emergency unit construction at the A. and M. College of Texas, suffered fatal injuries Friday afternoon when he was struck in the back of the head by a descending work elevator. The negro's skull was crushed by the blow and he died shortly after being removed to the hospital.

Richardson, who had been employed for some time at the college lived between College Station and Bryan.

BODY OF MAN THOT SEEN AT KOPPE BRIDGE

OTTO HAHN BELEVES HE SAW DROWNED MAN THURSDAY

Although no reports of loss of human life by flood in the Brazos bottoms have reached Bryan, this afternoon Otto Hahn, who lives in Burleson county opposite Koppe bridge and who worked throughout the flood period bringing out livestock, said he believed that on last Thursday forenoon he saw the body of a man floating down stream.

Mr. Hahn stated that he was watching the river and looking over the widest expanse of territory possible, using a spyglass, when he caught sight of an object on the crest of the flood and being carried steadily down stream. Mr. Hahn was steadfast in his belief the object was the body of a man, though he could not tell whether white or negro, and did not believe a log or some other object could have confused him.

Mr. Hahn stated that the river is back in its banks at the bridge but that cotton and other crops look badly and that the damage has been considerable. So far he knows no livestock perished and stated that the party with which he worked brought out about 80 head of cattle, 20 or more hogs and many chickens. Boats were used to move some of the livestock and most of the cattle and mules were driven out.

Summer School Opens Here With Fifty Enrolled

Summer school opened this morning in Bryan with an enrollment of 50 students, the largest summer school ever yet assembled here. Supt. H. L. Durham is pleased with the outlook for the summer session of eight weeks and hopes to do good work.

Enrollment for summer school according to Supt. Durham will close tomorrow. Any student from the third grade through the seventh grade can make a half year of school work during this summer school of intensive training. School hours for the summer will be from 7 a. m. to 12 o'clock.

High school pupils may take as many as two units of work. Hours for the high school students are from 7 a. m. to 1 p. m. daily.

The faculty in charge of the summer school is composed of Supt. H. L. Durham, Miss Wessie Weddington, Gus C. Cox, Miss Mary Byman, Fred L. Sloop, J. Vernon Brown, Miss Elizabeth Suber, Miss Leila Griffin, and Miss Clara Calhoun.

Stanford Family Returns to Bryan

J. E. Stanford and daughters Alia and Evelyn arrived in Bryan on Saturday afternoon, returning from Longview to make their home here while Mr. Stanford takes up his work as Texas editor for the Southern Agriculturist.

Mrs. Stanford and John remained in Longview for a few days until their goods can be shipped here by truck. They are expected to join Mr. Stanford and the girls here one day this week.

Eberstadt Home From Longview Etex Conference

S. E. Eberstadt returned last night from Longview, where he spent the day in conference with other chamber of commerce secretaries and officials of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The conference was called by W. N. Blanton, general manager of the Etex organization, for the purpose of planning a membership drive to start June 15. While in Longview Mr. Eberstadt, secretary of the chamber of commerce here, talked at a Rotary luncheon and a Methodist Brotherhood meeting. He reports many favorite comments on the manner in which Bryan handled the 3rd annual Etex convention.

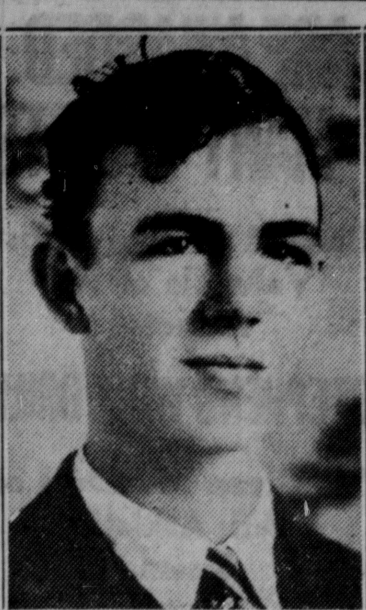

City Is Given Site for Negro School by C. G. Parsons; Gift Is Accepted by Commissioners

Gift of land to be used as a site for a new negro school to the city of Bryan by C. G. Parsons was accepted this morning by the city commission in a special meeting of that body.

The land deeded to the city by Mr. Parsons is to be used for this purpose within a period of five years and was accepted with this understanding.

The property lies in city block No. 213, bounded by Congress and Randolph and 20th and 21st streets. The city commission also adopted

CLASS HONORS ANNOUNCED BY SUPT. DURHAM

Ten Are Graduated In "With Honor" Class

MOODY URGES CLASS

To Prepare Well For Opportunities To Come

The graduation of 36 members of the senior class of the Stephen F. Austin high school last night in the high school auditorium marked the close of one of the most successful years in the history of the Bryan public schools. The number of graduates from the white and negro high and elementary schools for the year was 101, the largest number in the history of the system.

The exercises were of more than usual interest for two reasons. The graduating class wore gray caps and gowns, for the first time in the history of the school, making an unusual impression of dignity as the members marched to the stage and as they sat grouped there during the commencement exercises. The second was the presence of Governor Dan Moody, who came from Austin yesterday afternoon and returned there last night, after making the commencement address.

Honors Are Awarded
One of the most interesting events of the evenings was the award of honors by Superintendent H. L. Durham. This followed the distribution of diplomas by F. L. Henderson, president of the board of trustees, who took this opportunity to pay tribute to the teaching organization, headed by Mr. Durham and to all friends of the school who had played any part in the success of the year or the upbuilding of the system.

Ten of the 36 members of the class were honor graduates. Those receiving highest honors were Alvie Adams, Kathleen Bullard, Jesse Merle Henry and Woodrow Wallace. Each of these students had an average of 30 or more grade points for the year.

Members graduating with honor were Logan Buchanan, Joe Kelly Butler, Ellen Dorman, Lucile Dougherty and Ruby Robinson. This group had an average of 27 grade points per year.

Scholarships Given
Members of the class graduating with honorable mention were Olin Sanders, with an average of 24 points for the year. Jessie Merle Henry was named valedictorian as a reward for the highest average over her entire high school course of any student in the class. This average was 92.8. As an added honor she was awarded a scholarship at any one of the colleges in the state that she may care to attend.

Second honors were given Woodrow Wallace, who delivered the salutatory and who also has his choice of twenty scholarships, in some of the leading schools of the country, including A. and M. College.

The medal given by the D. A. R. each year to the outstanding senior in American History was awarded Lucille Dougherty. The presentation was made by Mrs. W. S. Howell.

P.-T. A. Paid Tribute
Medals and a prize for essays and drawings on Fire Prevention were given awards, through the activity of the East Side Parent-Teachers Association. A prize offered the best design for a Fire Prevention medal, by a Travis pupil, was won by Miss John Carrington. The medals are to be awarded annually at commencement to the high school and Travis pupils who write the best essays on Fire Prevention. This year the honors go to Jane Adams in the high school and Louise Dyer in Travis.

Presidents this year and last of the Parent-Teachers Associations of the city, which organizations were paid a high tribute by Supt. Durham, were given gavels made by the Manual Training department and suitably engraved.

These gavels were presented to Mrs. H. B. McDowell, president East Side P.-T. A., 1927-1928; Mrs. R. R. Reppert, president West Side P.-T. A., 1927-1928; Mrs. A. J. Buchanan, life time secretary of East Side P.-T. A.; Mrs. W. H. Darrow, president East Side P.-T. A., 1928-1929; Mrs. R. W. Persons, president West Side P.-T. A., 1928-1929.

Graduated 20 Years Ago
Governor Moody, who was introduced by Mrs. Lee J. Rountree as a red headed lad she first had known about 30 years ago and who by preparing himself to take advantage of opportunity and to give service and by straight thinking and right living had won to his present high position, stated that just 20 years before he had received his diploma from high school and that though at first he ucation he soon realized that he should go further, train himself better and fit himself as well as possible for later years.

The governor called attention to what Texas had done to establish educational advantages for the youth of the state, saying that no other state in this country and probably no other country had built so firmly and widely into its foundation facilities for assuring the boys and girls and young men and women of the state the very best of educational advantages.

Settlers Sought Education
Even before the state was an independent organization—while yet a province of Mexico, the men and women who came to Texas and who later founded the state realized the need for educational facilities if the state were to become the institution of their dreams. Some of them, he said, were college trained. Others had been educated in the world of hard knocks. But all were a unit in the matter of laying a foundation that would always assure educational advantages for the youth of Texas.

Missions of acres of land were set aside for this purpose, that have produced millions of dollars. Later, special taxes were levied and this was done in such a way as to cause the more thickly settled and more prosperous communities to aid less prosperous sections to establish public schools for the education of the youth. Then came the founding of higher institutions of learning that Texas boys and girls might fit themselves well for the battles of life and to give the acme of service to society and to the state.

Modes of Living Change
Between the time he was graduated from high school and today the governor said, there had been great changes. The airplane was still an experiment. The automobile was still a horse-tormenting contraption that would require the better part of a week for a trip to Austin and back, if it survived the journey. The telephone was not generally used and radio was unknown. Today, he said, all these things are common and are growing into more general use day by day.

The change in methods of transportation and communication have made changes in modes of living. There is more need today, he said, for well trained minds even than there was in the days when he was a high school boy and he urged that the members of the class that was graduated last night continue their quest for training and education that they might finally enter into the world with the best possible equipment.

The governor stated that he believed opportunity was greater today than ever before, and that the best trained minds not only were in a better position to take advantage of opportunities offered but that more and better opportunities were presented to the trained mind than to that which was comparatively untrained.

Measures of Success
In closing his address Governor Moody called the attention of the class that material things did not always measure success.

A man might accumulate millions in money, he might own wide spread acres or cattle by the thousand and still be unsuccessful in the stricter sense. He said that all within his hearing had at some time in their lives, perhaps many times, had the fact proved to them that only money did not avail as a measure of success.

Better service to the state and to their fellowmen, he said, should be the real aim in life and that if the boys and girls of the class set out to equip themselves to give the best possible service in whatever arena of action they might choose to perform and strive to give that service, their success would reward their efforts though they might not pile up huge material rewards.

Federal Aid to Rural Schools Offers Boon to Texas and to Taxpayers If It Is Accepted

BY S. M. N. MARRS

On May 9, 1929, Hon. Charles Brand of Ohio introduced H. R. 2570 in Congress appropriating $100,000,000 from the federal treasury "to aid in the reduction of taxes on farm lands, and to promote elementary education in rural areas of the United States, and to cooperate with the states in the promotion of these objectives."

In many sections of the country assessed values are so low that sufficient funds to support good schools cannot be obtained without levying a rate of tax that is almost confiscatory. General relief will be given to the farmer by lowering the school tax. If the state would accept the provisions of this proposed act, in many cases it need not be necessary to levy a local maintenance rate of more than twenty-five cents. In the event the bill becomes a law the state will be called upon to match the federal funds on a 50-50 plan, and the allotment to the various states will be made upon the ratio of the rural population of Texas to the total rural population of the United States as determined by the federal census of 1930.

An examination of the census of 1920 discloses the fact that the rural population of Texas was seven and one-half per cent of the total rural population of the United States. This bill proposes to aid all rural schools and those in towns and villages with a population of fewer than 2500. It is probable that this percentage will be slightly reduced in 1930, but perhaps not below seven per cent. This would allocate to Texas from this appropriation $7,000,000 annually and the state would receive such part of this fund as would be matched by state appropriation.

If recognition by the Federal government would be given to the amount of state available funds now apportioned to rural schools for rural aid, the state would not be required to make additional appropriation to receive the entire amount of $7,000,000.

It would seem that if the rural schools of Texas can receive this large sum from the federal government without additional appropriation it would be good business for the legislature to accept the provisions of the bill if it becomes a law.

The state has matched funds to construct highways; it has accepted the Smith-Lever act, the Shepard-Towner act, the Smith-Highes act and recently the act providing for citizen vocational rehabilitation.

ALLEN CLOSES 44TH SEASON, 40 IN CLASS

Exercises Held Last Night In Palace Theatre
HONORS ARE AWARDED
Certificates for Work In R. O. T. C. Camp Are Given

Allen Academy, oldest preparatory school for boys in Texas, closed its 44th and one of its most successful years last night, when diplomas were awarded a class of 40 graduates, who had completed four years of work at the institution.

The exercises, held in the Palace theater, were attended by a responsive audience of friends of the class and the institution, though many friends of the graduates were prevented from attending by weather and road conditions.

N. B. Allen, superintendent and son of one of the founders of the school, presided and presented the diplomas and all but one of the honor awards. Col. C. J. Nelson, commandant of the cadet corps at A. & M. College, presented the cadets who had won the honor with commissions in the reserve corps. The Allen Band, under the direction of E. R. Lightfoot, furnished music for the occasion and James Leaden, Jr., of Mart, soloist.

Bryan Boys in Class
The commencement address was delivered by P. W. Horn, president of Texas Technological College of Lubbock, who impressed on the class the opportunities and duties that awaited them in their coming contacts in higher institutions of learning or in the world of business and industry.

Among the graduates were four from without the state, one coming from Mexico, and five from Bryan. These were Malcolm Barron, James H. George, Clifton R. Gardner, Cecil T. Martin and William C. Merka.

The music for the commencement exercises was furnished by the Academy band, one of the outstanding musical organizations of its kind in Texas.

Honors Are Announced
The honor graduate this year is Daniel W. Kittredge of New York City. The senior scholarship medal, given by Wilson Bradley, was awarded William Lee Campbell of Dallas. This youth also was awarded the prize for the winning essay among those submitted by Texas students in the recent contest sponsored by the American Chemical Society. This presentation was made by J. S. Hemingway, his instructor in chemistry.

The Astin medal, given by Mrs. O. H. Astin for excellence in English, was awarded David R. Winterman of Eagle Lake. The junior scholarship medal, given by J. M. Caldwell, was awarded Harvey Doty of Matehuala, Mexico. The medal for the best athlete was given to Bud McLeod of Houston. The Mathematics medal was awarded to George Barron of Mexico City. P. W. Wheelis Jr., of Mart, won the Distinguished Service medal. The Student Athletic medal was awarded Allen Cunningham of Paris for being the best student among the members of the Academy's various athletic teams.

Military Honors Won
The cadets who completed this years course in R. O. T. C. training and who were given certificates by Col. Nelson to show their qualifications in the grade attained in the Reserve forces, were announced by Captain A. D. Bruce, commandant of the corps, to be as follows:

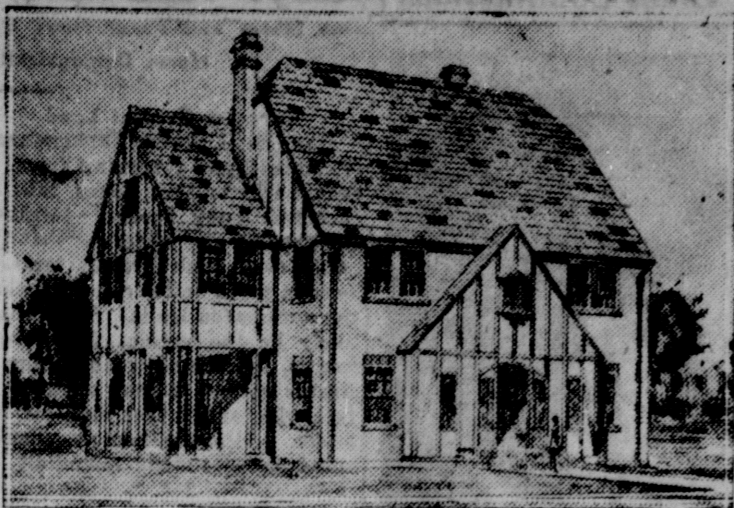

Master Sergeant—James B. Malhard, Houston.
First Sergeants—Joseph H. George, Bryan; Clifton R. Gardner, Bryan; William E. Ladin, Houston; John H. Sweeney, Houston; Davis R. Winterman, Eagle Lake.

Sergeants—Lawrence Ashburn, Denison; Jack W. Harris, Houston; Sam W. Jenkin, Corpus Christi; Richard K. Jennings, Roanoke, La.; Daniel W. Kittredge, Washington, D. C.; Walter T. Millington, Presidio; Joe W. Rowland, Weslaco; Choyce A. Rutledge, Victoria; William H. Staples, Paris; Robert E. Stripling, San Augustine; Carl L. White, Arkansas City, Ark.; Joseph Kost, Houston.

Corporals—Norman L. Armitage, Dallas; Malcolm Barron, Bryan; John W. Craig, Many, La.; Henry H. English, Henderson; Don H. Ford, Orange; William V. Hill, El Campo; Frank A. Johnson Jr., Sherman; Cecil T. Martin, Bryan; Chas. C. Martin, George; Julius B. McCauley Jr., Waco; J. P. Rohde Jr., Clarendon; William B. Stripling, Nacogdoches; Carroll E. Weiman, Port Arthur; James Woodyard, Bryan.

BRYAN C. OF C. MEETING
On account of commencement exercises at A. and M. College on Tuesday the regular meeting of the directors of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce will not be held on that day, but will be postponed until Wednesday morning.

Bryan Teachers Leave for Home Or Special Work

Many of the members of the Bryan city school teaching force are leaving tomorrow for the summer months. Some are going away to live in other cities; some will attend school during the vacation days, while others will spend the rest of the time until school opens again next September with their home folk.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Parker, who have been in Bryan during this school year are leaving Saturday for Houston to reside permanently. Mr. Parker has accepted a position as draftsman for the Humble Oil Company and will be in the office at Houston.

Miss Lois Gilstrap, domestic science teacher for the past three years, will spend the summer with her parents at Franklin.

Misses Saffronia and Claribel Carrington go to Caldwell Saturday for a visit of several days with their parents and will then go to Boulder, Colorado, where they will do special study work during the summer.

Miss Annette Moran will spend the summer with her home folk at Mason, Texas, and Miss Gladys McKee will be with her relatives at Henderson during vacation days.

Miss Ann Barrett leaves tomorrow for her home in Waco, and Miss Winnie Mae Carter for her home in Brownwood, Texas. Miss Esther Price returned to her home in Uvalde for the summer.

Curb Gas Pumps May Be Barred By Commission

The question of curb gasoline pumps was threshed out by the city commission of Bryan yesterday in a conference with the Bryan representatives of four companies, Gulf, Texas Magnolia and Humble.

The conclusion was reached that a date should be definitely set after which no more curb installations should be made except under certain conditions that obtain in the case of other individuals and companies seeking franchises for the use of part of the city streets.

A committee was named to report back to the commission and it is expected that a definite policy will be worked out shortly that will practically stop the practice of curb installation, which has been growing rapidly lately as the result of keener competition in the oil and gas field.

Ewing-Walton Engagement Is Told at Party

Mrs. Eugene Ewing entertained Thursday morning at her home on East Washington Avenue with a beautifully appointed bridge luncheon, honoring her daughter who is home for a few days from Georgetown.

After five games were played a bit of social news was made known when the guests were invited into the dining room, which was beautifully decorated in pink and green. A two course luncheon was served the sweet course consisting of cake in the form of wedding rings filled with mint ice in which was concealed tiny cupid tellings of the engagement of Miss Gladys Ewing and Mr. Turner Walton, the wedding to take place in July.

Amid clamors of good wishes and congratulations Mr. Turner was presented to the guests, while from some guilty source rice was thrown on the unsuspecting couple causing a great deal of laughter and confusion.

Miss Gladys Ewing is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ewing and is one of the most beautiful and charming of the town's younger people. She receives her A. B. degree in June from Southwestern University where she has been a student for the past three years. Mr. Walton is the son of Dr. T. O. and Mrs. Walton of A. and M. College and is now attending the Texas University Medical College at Navasota. Examiner.

BODY OF MAN THOT SEEN AT KOPPE BRIDGE

OTTO HAHN BELEVES HE SAW DROWNED MAN THURSDAY

Although no reports of loss of human life by flood in the Brazos bottoms have reached Bryan, this afternoon Otto Hahn, who lives in Burleson county opposite Koppe bridge and who worked throughout the flood period bringing out livestock, said he believed that on last Thursday forenoon he saw the body of a man floating down stream.

Mr. Hahn stated that he was watching the river and looking over the widest expanse of territory possible, using a spyglass, when he caught sight of an object on the crest of the flood and being carried steadily down stream. Mr. Hahn was steadfast in his belief the object was the body of a man, though he could not tell whether white or negro, and did not believe a log or some other object could have confused him.

Mr. Hahn stated that the river is back in its banks at the bridge but that cotton and other crops look badly and that the damage has been considerable. So far as he knows no livestock perished and stated that the party with which he worked brought out about 80 head of cattle, 20 or more hogs and many chickens. Boats were used to move some of the livestock and most of the cattle and mules were driven out.

FAIRES WILL LEAVE FOR SUMMER IN WESTERN STATE

Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Faires will leave Bryan for the summer one day next week. Mrs. Faires expects to spend the summer with her parents in Boulder, Col., and Mr. Faires will be located at Wichita, Kans., where he expects to do some special work in airplane building and aeronautics in preparation for work that he expects to do at A. and M. College next year.

40th Convention Of Texas C.E.U. To Open June 12

The fortieth annual convention of the Texas Christian Endeavor Union will meet in Houston June 12 to 17. The First Presbyterian church will act as host to the 5000 delegates expected from all over the state.

Miss Florence Sterling is chairman of the convention committee. Preparations are being made to entertain the largest Christian Endeavor convention ever assembled in the state of Texas. The Chambers of Commerce of Houston and Galveston have arranged trips and entertainment for all registered delegates. The state council will be entertained at the Lamar Hotel just one block from the First Presbyterian church.

Noted speakers have been secured by the convention committee to address the Endeavorers of Texas. Heading the list of speakers is Dr. Daniel A. Poling, World President of Christian Endeavor, Editor of the Christian Herald and pastor of the Marble Collegiate church of New York. Dr. Poling is one of the outstanding preachers before the Christian world today. He will address great mass meetings while in Houston.

Mr. Jack Huppertz, known and loved by thousands throughout Texas, will bring with him from Dallas, Mr. Alva and Mrs. Wilgus, who will take charge of the music. Carlton M. Sherwood of Boston will be another noted speaker to address the delegates, accompanied by A. J. Shurtle, who is International Treasurer of Christian Endeavor.

The convention opens Wednesday evening, June 12, then for four days the delegates will be busy with mass meetings, parades, banquets, excursions, conferences, and scores of other activities. Special railroad rates will be in effect from almost all points in the state. Delegates will receive free entertainment of room and breakfast.

The youth of the Lone Star State will assemble from near and far, many bringing bands, and special floats, all looking forward to a time of real fellowship and inspiration.

Work Is Planned For Coming Year By Etx C. of C.

S. E. Eberstadt, secretary of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce, went to Longview yesterday to attend a meeting of secretaries of commercial organizations affiliated with the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was called by W. N. Blanton, general manager of the Etx organization, for the purpose of planning a membership drive to start June 15.

While in Longview Mr. Eberstadt, secretary of the chamber of commerce here, talked at a Rotary luncheon and a Methodist Brotherhood meeting. He reports many favorite comments on the manner in which Bryan handled the 3rd annual Etx convention.

Negro Is Killed On A-M Building

(Special to The Eagle)
COLLEGE STATION, June 1.—Elijah Richardson, 30, negro workman employed on the chemistry laboratory emergency unit construction at the A. and M. The negro's skull was crushed by the blow and he died shortly after being removed to the hospital.

Summer School Opens Here With Fifty Enrolled

Summer school opened this morning in Bryan with an enrollment of 50 students, the largest summer school ever yet assembled here. Supt. H. L. Durham is pleased with the outlook for the summer session of eight weeks and hopes to do good work.

Enrollment for summer school according to Supt. Durham will close tomorrow. Any student from the third grade through the seventh grade can make a half year of school work during this summer school of intensive training. School hours for the summer will be from 7 a. m. to 12 o'clock.

High school pupils may take as many as two units of work. Hours for the high school students are from 7 a. m. to 1 p. m. daily.

The faculty in charge of the summer school is composed of Supt. H. L. Durham, Miss Wesa Weddington, Gus C. Cox, Miss Mary Hyman, Fred L. Sloop, J. Vernon Brown, Miss Elizabeth Suber, Miss Leila Griffin, and Miss Clara Calhoun.

Stanford Family Returns to Bryan

J. E. Stanford and daughters Alia and Evelyn arrived in Bryan on Saturday afternoon, returning from Longview to make their home here while Mr. Stanford takes up his work as Texas editor for the Southern Agriculturist.

Mrs. Stanford and John remained in Longview for a few days until their goods can be shipped here by truck. They are expected to join Mr. Stanford and the girls here one day this week.

Eberstadt Home From Longview Etx Conference

S. E. Eberstadt returned last night from Longview, where he spent the day in conference with other chamber of commerce secretaries and officials of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

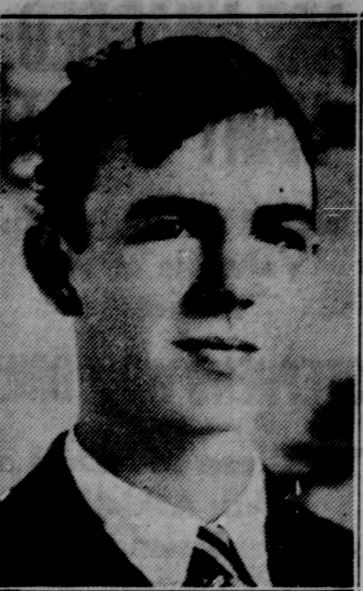

The conference was called by W. N. Blanton, general manager of the Etx organization, for the purpose of planning a membership drive to start June 15.

While in Longview Mr. Eberstadt, secretary of the chamber of commerce here, talked at a Rotary luncheon and a Methodist Brotherhood meeting. He reports many favorite comments on the manner in which Bryan handled the 3rd annual Etx convention.

His rating at A. and M. made mental examination unnecessary, when he went to Fort Sam Houston for this test, and a short time later his appointment was confirmed.

PETIT JURORS DISMISSED BY JUDGE DAVIS

Realizing the serious condition that exists in some of the rural sections of Brazos county, as a result of the rains and floods of last week, Judge W. C. Davis this morning dismissed the petit jury drawn for duty this week, passed the cases for the time and permitted the members of the panel to return to their homes.

The special venire of 210, summoned to report Thursday morning for the trial of Bob Silver and his companions on a charge of robbery with firearms, incident to their escape from Wynne prison farm some weeks ago, will report, however, and the trial of Silver and his pals will proceed as planned.

Dr. Jno. A. Held Resigns at Mexia

Dr. John A. Held, for four years pastor of the First Baptist church, moderator of the Limestone County Baptist Association and prominent in state circles, will read his resignation to the congregation on Sunday morning, setting on or before the second Sunday in July as the time for closing his ministry here, it became known this week.

Dr. Held indicated some time ago that he would resign soon, but set no date. He told his congregation in prayer meeting on Wednesday night that the resignation would be read Sunday morning.

The Baptist pastor here is one of the leading men of his church in Texas. He will preach the convention sermon next year at the Texas Baptist convention.

He has not announced where his next pastorate will be.—Mexia News.

Dr. Held was formerly pastor of the First Baptist church here, serving the church some eight years.

CLASS HONORS ANNOUNCED BY SUPT. DURHAM

Ten Are Graduated In "With Honor" Class
MOODY URGES CLASS
To Prepare Well For Opportunities To Come

The graduation of 36 members of the senior class of the Stephen F. Austin high school last night in the high school auditorium marked the close of one of the most successful years in the history of the Bryan public schools. The number of graduates from the white and negro high and elementary schools for the year was 101, the largest number in the history of the system.

The exercises were of more than usual interest for two reasons. The graduating class wore gray caps and gowns, for the first time in the history of the school, making an unusual impression of dignity as the members marched to the stage and as they sat grouped there during the commencement exercises. The second was the presence of Governor Dan Moody, who came from Austin yesterday afternoon and returned there last night, after making the commencement address.

Honors Are Awarded
One of the most interesting events of the evenings was the award of honors by Superintendent H. L. Durham. This followed the distribution of diplomas by F. L. Henderson, president of the board of trustees, who took this opportunity to pay tribute to the teaching organization, headed by Mr. Durham and to all friends of the school who had played any part in the success of the year or the upbuilding of the system.

Ten of the 36 members of the class were honor graduates. Those receiving highest honors were Alvie Adams, Kathleen Bullard, Jesse Merle Henry and Woodrow Wallace. Each of these students had an average of 30 or more grade points for the year.

Members graduating with honor were Logan Buchanan, Joe Kelly Butler, Ellen Dorman, Lucile Dougherty and Ruby Robinson. This group had an average of 27 grade points per year.

Scholarships Given
Members of the class graduating with honorable mention were Olin Sanders, with an average of 24 points for the year. Jessie Merle Henry was named valedictorian as a reward for the highest average over her entire high school course of any student in the class. This average was 92.8. As an added honor she was awarded a scholarship at any one of the colleges in the state that she may care to attend.

Second honors were given Woodrow Wallace, who delivered the salutatory and who also has his choice of twenty scholarships, in some of the leading schools of the country, including A. and M. College.

The medal given by the D. A. R. each year to the outstanding senior in American History was awarded Lucille Dougherty. The presentation was made by Mrs. W. S. Howell.

P.-T. A. Paid Tribute
Medals and a prize for essays and drawings on Fire Prevention were given awards, through the activity of the East Side Parent-Teachers Association. A prize offered the best design for a Fire Prevention medal, by a Travis pupil, was won by Miss John Carrington. The medals are to be awarded annually at commencement to the high school and Travis pupils who write the best essays on Fire Prevention. This year the honors go to Jane Adams in the high school and Louise Dyer in Travis.

Presidents this year and last of the Parent-Teachers Associations of the city, which organizations were paid a high tribute by Supt. Durham, were given gavels made by the Manual Training department and suitably engraved.

These gavels were presented to Mrs. H. B. McDowell, president East Side P.-T. A., 1927-1928; Mrs. R. R. Reppert, president West Side P.-T. A., 1927-1928; Mrs. A. J. Buchanan, life time secretary of East Side P.-T. A.; Mrs. W. H. Darrow, president East Side P.-T. A., 1928-1929; Mrs. R. W. Persons, president West Side P.-T. A., 1928-1929.

Graduated 20 Years Ago
Governor Moody, who was introduced by Mrs. Lee J. Rountree as a red headed lad she first had known about 30 years ago and who by preparing himself to take advantage of opportunity and to give service and by straight thinking and right living had won to his present high position, stated that just 20 years before he had received his diploma from high school and that though at first he ucation he soon realized that he should go further, train himself better and fit himself as well as possible for later years.

The governor called attention to what Texas had done to establish educational advantages for the youth of the state, saying that no other state in this country had probably no other country had built so firmly and widely into its foundation facilities for assuring the boys and girls and young men and women of the state the very best of educational advantages.

Settlers Sought Education
Even before the state was an independent organization—while yet a province of Mexico, the men and women who came to Texas and who later founded the state realized the need for educational facilities if the state were to become the institution of their dreams. Some of them, he said, were college trained. Others had been educated in the world of hard knocks. But all were a unit in the matter of laying a foundation that would always assure educational advantages for the youth of Texas.

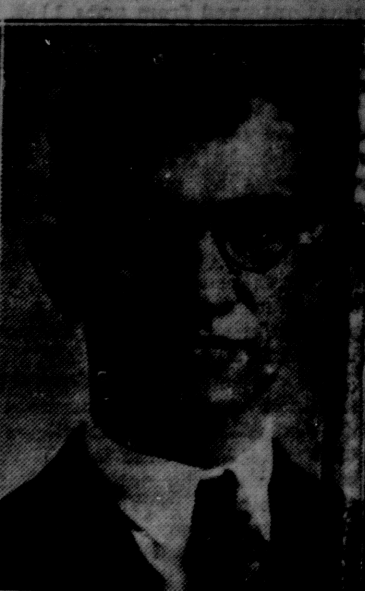

Missions of acres of land were set aside for this purpose, that have produced millions of dollars. Later, special taxes were levied and this was done in such a way as to cause the more thickly settled and more prosperous communities to aid less prosperous sections to establish public schools for the education of the youth. Then came the founding of higher institutions of learning that Texas boys and girls might fit themselves well for the battles of life and to give the acme of service to society and to the state.

Modes of Living Change
Between the time he was graduated from high school and today the governor said, there had been great changes. The airship was still an experiment. The automobile was still a horse-terrifying contraption that would require the better part of a week for a trip to Austin and back, if it survived the journey. The telephone was not generally used and radio was unknown. Today, he said, all these things are common and are growing into more general use day by day.

The change in methods of transportation and communication have made changes in modes of living. There is more need today, he said, for well trained minds even than there was in the days when he was a high school boy and he urged that the members of the class that was graduated last night continue their quest for training and education that they might finally enter into the world with the best possible equipment.

The governor stated that he believed opportunity was greater today than ever before, and that the best trained minds not only were

Bryan Man To Leave For Tour of Europe

FRANK ZUBIK

Will visit Prague, capital of his native land and many points of interest in tour of three months.

In a better position to take advantage of opportunities offered but that more and better opportunities were presented to the trained mind than to that which was comparatively untrained.

Measures of Success
In closing his address Governor Moody called the attention of the class that material things did not always measure success.

A man might accumulate millions in money, he might own wide spread acres or cattle by the thousand and still be unsuccessful in the stricter sense. He said that all within his hearing had at some times, had the fact proved to them that only money did not avail as a measure of success.

Better service to the state and to their fellowmen, he said, should be the real aim in life and that if the boys and girls of the class set out to equip themselves to give the best possible service in whatever arena of action they might choose to perform and strove to give that service, their success would reward their efforts though they might not pile up huge material rewards.

MONEY FOR MILK PLANT

(By Associated Press)
MOUNT PLEASANT, June 5.—Seventy thousand dollars has been raised for a milk plant here. The plant will be the last of three units under one management, the others being at Marshall and Cyflars. Plans call for $100,000 for the plant here.

Federal Aid to Rural Schools Offers Boon to Texas and to Taxpayers If It Is Accepted

BY S. M. N. MARKS

On May 9, 1929, Hon. Charles Brand of Ohio introduced H. R. 2570 in Congress appropriating $100,000,000 from the federal treasury "to aid in the reduction of taxes on farm lands, and to promote elementary education in rural areas of the United States, and to cooperate with the states in the promotion of these objectives."

In many sections of the country assessed values are so low that sufficient funds to support good schools cannot be obtained without levying a rate of tax that is almost confiscatory. General relief will be given to the farmer by lowering the school tax. If the state would accept the provisions of this proposed act, in many cases it need not be necessary to levy a local maintenance rate of more than twenty-five cents. In the event the bill becomes a law the state will be called upon the match the federal funds on a 50-50 plan, and the allotment to the various states will be made upon the ratio of the rural population of Texas to the total rural population of the United States as determined by the federal census of 1930.

An examination of the census of 1920 discloses the fact that the rural population of Texas was seven and one-half per cent of the total.

tal rural population of the United States. This bill proposes to aid all rural schools and those in towns and villages with a population of fewer than 2500. It is probable that this percentage will be slightly reduced in 1930, but perhaps not below seven per cent. This would allocate to Texas from this appropriation $7,000,000 annually and the state would receive such part of this fund as would be matched by state appropriation.

If recognition by the Federal government would be given to the amount of state available funds now apportioned to rural schools added to the usual appropriation for rural aid, the state would not be required to make additional appropriation to receive the entire amount of $7,000,000.

It would seem that if the rural schools of Texas can receive this large sum from the federal government without additional appropriation it would be good business for the legislature to accept the provisions of the bill if it becomes a law.

The state has matched funds to construct highways; it has accepted the Smith-Lever act, the Shepard-Towner act, the Smith-Hughes act and recently the act providing for citizen vocational rehabilitation and one-half per cent of the total.

SILVER'S MOTHER—

men will go on trial tomorrow for robbery with firearms.

Owing to the condition of the roads and especially due to high waters of the Navasota the men were taken by way of Houston, rather than overland by automobile. They did not leave the prison until this morning as the warrant for their delivery here did not reach there until this morning, the mail also being delayed by the conditions of flood.

It is expected that the four prisoners, Silver, John Reid, Robert Hill and Marvin A. Azbell will reach here some time tonight and that at least the deputy warden will remain in Bryan until their trial is concluded.

Large Verdict Called

The largest venire in the history of the county has been summoned and although only 12 witnesses have been summoned by the state and defense, it is expected that considerable time will be consumed in obtaining a jury. Silver, it is expected, will be placed on trial first and there is some question if the other men will be tried at the present term of court, although two of the cases may be set for next week.

A representative of the attorney general's department will be here for the trial. It is said that Galloway Calhoun has been detailed for this duty. County Attorney A. T. Kinney Jr., of Walker county also will assist. The state also will be represented by County Attorney W. E. Neely and F. L. Henderson. Mack Gates of Huntville and J. G. Minkert of Bryan will be associated in the defense of the quarter.

The case already has aroused wide interest and county and court officials except one of the largest crowds in the history of the local courts to crowd into the court room. The Sanders trial some weeks ago was almost a record breaker so far as crowds were concerned and it is expected the appearance of Silver and his companions will prove an even greater attraction.

STATE BOARD—

ation inviting him to speak. His declaration for an income tax, to immediately supplement and later eliminate the ad valorem tax, brought a wave of applause from his auditors.

Incidentally, he told the legislature that in his opinion the state superintendent of public instruction should be appointed, and reiterated his belief in the short ballot, with the governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general as the only elective state officers.

The bill creating a state board of education, which the governor today returned to the legislature for corrections, after its passage by the first called session, provides for election of the superintendent. The two houses were divided on this point, the house wanting to have him elected and the senate appointed by the board.

"After reading in the newspapers of yesterday's meeting of the legislature, where it was chronicled that there was no executive message, merely the proclamation calling the session having been read, and the committee sent to notify me that you were ready for business finding me away from my office, I concluded that I had better come up here and make some remarks on these subjects I have submitted."

"At the conclusion of his address, contemporaneous throughout, he was roundly commended by many of the legislators and the opinion was expressed that his words would be good tonic."

Compose Differences

He expressed the hope that the legislature would be able in a measure to compose your differences which have heretofore existed, without surrendering principle, and do something for the good of the state.

He said that the legislature should "want to be up to now and up-to-date," and that it was his belief the laws had been written that way.

Declaring himself for Jeffersonian democracy, he said he did not believe, however, that the tenets of 1800 could be made to meet conditions of 1929.

"There is only one thing better than a Jeffersonian democrat, to my mind, and that is a Wilsonian democrat, because the things Wilson advocated were progressive and in line with modern times," he stated.

Utilities Regulation

The governor stressed the necessity of laws regulating public utilities operating within the state for the protection of consumers, asserting that present statutes in no way shielded the public from exorbitant rates which interests desire to charge.

"I am informed that in Fort Worth the city government paid $60,000 to prosecute a suit against the raising of gas prices and in San Antonio an amount almost that great was expended in utilities litigation," he said. "Large cities may be financially able to carry their grievances into the courts but the price to smaller communities is prohibitive."

The governor said that large interests were increasing in their attempts to buy municipally owned plants and generate profits and my young friends "He has set before been neglected.

"A bill regulating utilities has been before the legislature for two sessions and it is now time to say whether the people shall be protected or be left to the mercy of large interests furnishing gas, electricity and other commodities," he declared.

The governor told the legislature that he did not favor issuance of a certificate and necessity to utilities organizations because they are "already from practical purposes a monopoly."

Relieve Farm Lands

Turning to revenue and taxation the state executive pleaded for the lawmakers to remove some of the burden of financing the state government from farm lands.

He was cheered when he declared that agriculture is now laboring under an excessive tax burden because "an ad valorem tax is the easiest and handiest method of raising funds."

The governor said that natural resources which are being mined by interests at a profit far in excess of that made on the farm, should be taxed. He declared also that a state income tax already proposed in a bill by Rep. T. N. Mauritz would reduce the task of meeting Texas' obligations equally on an earning basis.

Appointment of a state superintendent of public instruction was advocated in the address by the governor as a result, he said, of suggestions of leading educators.

"I do not believe that people are incapable of electing the right man at the polls, but because no great deal of attention is paid to the selection of subordinate officers I am recommending the appointive feature," he said.

BEER PARLOR—

said Mrs. Roper, "and when he came up that night and saw his wife and mother there, I heard Mrs. Levi Stallworth tell her to go with her. But Mrs. Morrison replied, 'No—I don't want to. You will kill me.' Mrs. Stallworth told me that if I opened the door she would kill us both."

"Then Mrs. Morrison started walking away with Mrs. Stallworth and her mother-in-law. Soon after that I heard pistol shots."

"What have you been selling at your house, Mrs. Roper?" asked Defense Attorney Robert O'Keefe in cross-examination.

Mrs. Roper then said that on the day of the shooting she had pleaded guilty to selling beer at the house.

Kyle Bromby testified he passed on the street and saw the three women. He said he knew Mrs. Morrison and heard her remark: "You can't blame me for not wanting to go with you—you are going to take me away and kill me."

Shooting Described

Then came a struggle and the firing of shots, he said. He added that the defendant fired twice after Mrs. Morrison had fallen.

Bromby, cross-examined, denied bootlegging had been his "vocation," but said he once faced a prohibition charge.

Roy Slay, undertaker, said he found nine holes in the body of the deceased, each caused by a bullet entering or leaving the body.

Hearing the pistol shots and seeing Mrs. Stallworth with the pistol in her hand, R. S. Baxter said he went after Policeman C. M. Davis, returning promptly to the scene of the homicide. Baxter said the defendant remarked, "I don't know anything about a shooting."

When Joe Henderson, railroad clerk, went to the witness chair, he swore he was an eye witness to a part of the difficulty. "I saw the older Mrs. Stallworth holding Mrs. Morrison around the waist and Mrs. Morrison was trying to get loose," said Henderson. "I saw the younger Mrs. Stallworth raise her pistol and fire. Then the older Mrs. Stallworth shoved Mrs. Morrison to one side. Mrs. Morrison fell in the doorway of a hotel." Henderson said just before the shots were fired Mrs. Morrison was "fighting with her hands trying to get the older Mrs. Stallworth's arms down."

Bryan Lions Club and its activities. He commented particularly upon the Club's 10-year program. Mr. Wilson stated that he believed that service clubs are well worth while for one reason particularly, if for no other, and that is that they serve to keep down factionalism.

While the majority of the city commissioners were within the sound of his voice Lion W. S. Howell took occasion to say to them that the Lions Club would heartily endorse action of the commission in establishing a rate of approximately cost for electricity for electric signs on the business streets of the city. "This class of advertising speaks well of the town to the stranger passing thru as well as advertising the individual business," said Mr. Howell.

The musical and entertainment portion of Tuesday's program was rendered by Misses Kathleen Cason, Mildred Salley and Jane Reynolds. The trio gave several vocal numbers, and Miss Reynolds several piano solos, all of which brought forth much applause. These young ladies have appeared before the club a number of times and are always welcome visitors.

The June programs of the Bryan Lions Club will be more or less competitive. When the month has closed the entire membership, save three who are judges, will have been at least partly responsible for a program. The first committee composed of John M. Lawrence Jr., chairman; J. Bryan Miller, B. L. Durham and C. E. Grieser, presented their program at Tuesday's luncheon by having as the club's guests the "City Fathers."

Those present were: Harry L. Durham, Henry Locke, E. J. Jenkins, D. L. Wilson, Forrest Jones, H. A. Burger, Jno. M. Lawrence Jr., Joe Kaplan, J. T. Burtis, A. S. Ware, Lamar Jones, Noah W. Damsby, M.
